HUBER TAKES SLAP AT PARTY OPPONENTS

Says State's Entire "Millionaire Club" Is Out After Offices

Chilton—(P)—Henry A. Huber, lieutenant governor, campaigning for reelection, at present in the lake shore counties, has no objection to millionaires becoming candidates for office, but when the entire club of millionaires in the state get out with an airplane and a brass band for all the jobs then it is time for the people to look about.

"There is no necessity for all the millionaires in Wisconsin enlisting at the present time in the service of the state now that the war is over," said the veteran La Follette.

"A Sheboygan millionaire manufacturer is a candidate for governor, his manager is a millionaire lumberman, and his chief advisor is another millionaire—the advisor and co-worker of Andrew Mellon in the aluminum business. Just when all the officers of the millionaires club got into the political arena, another paper manufacturer of Wisconsin Rapids thought he ought to have the job of Senator La Follette. "Politics in Wisconsin this year has become a great race between the rich and the poor. While one candidate sails into towns in an airplane, Bob LaFollette and Joe Beck chug along the highways from place to place in an automobile, the same as the farmer. This campaign will go down in Wisconsin history as a great struggle as to which shall rule, wealth or men; which shall find public station—wealthy paper manufacturers, aluminum presidents, the head of the plumbing manufacturers of the country or educated, free men?"

"When the few run the government there will be depotism. When the many come to the ballot box and express their will, we have a democracy. The issue in Wisconsin is the few against the many—money against men."

SMITH PLANS TALK WITH JOHN RASKOB

Democratic Nominee Returns to New York After Vacation

Hampton Bays, N. Y.—(P)—With an appreciative wave of the hand to the weather man who had done all he could to make the vacation of a presidential nominee enjoyable, Governor Smith said farewell Wednesday to an old summer stamping ground and turned back to New York, Albany and his campaign.

Before his departure from Hampton Bays where Smith and his family frequently spent summer vacations when it was known as "Good Ground," the nominee reiterated that he had no definite appointments booked for his stay in New York. He said, however, that he undoubtedly would talk things over with John J. Raskob, who became head of the Democratic national committee a fortnight ago.

In the meantime a campaign organization has been put together, and Smith and his chief lieutenants will have an opportunity during the remaining days of the week to map out with some degree of certainty the lines on which they will battle the Republicans during the next three months. Even though his vacation at the shore was at an end Smith still showed an unwillingness to be bothered by the cares that come to all aspirants for public office. He looks forward Thursday to a restful cruise down Long Island sound on the yacht of his old friend, "Bill" Todd, the ship-builder. Once he gets back to the seclusion of the executive mansion at Albany the Democratic standard bearer will find as the next order of business the preparation of his acceptance speech.

NEW CROSSING TO BE A GOOD ONE, MAYOR SAYS

A meeting of the executive committee of the chamber of commerce with Mayor Rule was held Tuesday afternoon in the chamber offices to discuss the proposed grading of the C. Division-st crossing. A petition to the chamber from residents on N. Division-st that the grading be a firm and permanent one actuated the meeting.

Mayor Rule stated that the Chicago and Northwestern railroad had authorized the city to build a crossing at the expense of the railroad company, and that the crossing would be made approximately 10 feet wider than it is now, with a firm foundation and of a permanent nature.

"Y" DIRECTORS PLAN MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN

Plans for the fall membership campaign will be discussed by directors of the Y. M. C. A. at a meeting in the association building at 1:30 Friday afternoon, according to G. F. Werner, general secretary. Candidates for boys' work and membership secretaries are to be considered. Regular business also will be discussed.

Ethnologist Seeks Ancient History Of Fox Indian Tribe

Striving to complete his record of the old pagan rituals of the Fox Indians of Iowa, who first settled in the Fox river valley as far back as 1665, Dr. Truman Michelson, Smithsonian ethnologist of the Bureau of American Ethnology, is devoting his seventeenth consecutive summer among the peaceful, industrious survivors of this once war-like tribe.

The Outagamie Indians, after whom this county is named, were a part of the Fox tribe which settled along the Fox river. Outagamie means people of the other shore, and these Indians were so named when they separated from the Fox tribe and settled on the east side of Green Bay.

Until recently the Foxes observed their rituals in a reverential spirit, but the younger generation has taken a different attitude, attending the festivals primarily for social purposes and to take advantage of the abundant feasts, so that the old spirit is likely to perish with the passing of the aging elders of the tribe.

These ceremonials take place chiefly in the spring and fall and, unlike Christian and other familiar religious practices, have little to do with rules of conduct. Each ritual has a distinct purpose, such as the avoidance of disease, insurance of success in war, and the insurance of retribution in case anyone should speak ill against the chief's village, and is supposed to have been ordered by supernatural spirits.

In summer, Dr. Michelson relates, feasting and dancing are connected with religious worship, but in winter there is no dancing. Features of the summer festivals are the four dances, the ceremonial eating of dog meat, a prayer to the Spirit of Fire, and He Who Lies With His Face In The Smoke-Hole (i. e., the sky) asking that they inform the mythical originator of the festival that worship is being held.

Although they come under French and Catholic influence around 1640 and received some intermixture of European blood in the early days of American colonization, they always have been a conservative people and have maintained rigidly their racial purity since their return to Iowa from Kansas in the Civil War period. On the present reservation near Tama last year only one of the 375 Foxes was a half-breed.

The Foxes, together with the Sauk Indians, though they never exceeded 1200 in number, played an important and turbulent part in the history of Wisconsin and the Northwest. Driven from their homes in eastern Michigan by the combined assaults of the Ottawa and neutral nations, they came to the Green Bay region, where the French first encountered them in 1665-70.

In 1669 Marquette found a village of 600 souls at Oconto, composed of several tribes—the Sauk, Foxes, Potawatomi, and Winnebago, and here he began his religious instruction. Soon the Foxes began to scatter along the Fox, while a portion of them located on the east side of Green Bay, from which circumstance the name Outagamie (people of the other shore) was given them by the neighboring tribes. The French cultivated the friendship of the tribes, and led them against the Iroquois confederacy, which had English support. The Foxes were exceptions, however, and proved a source of constant trouble.

LETTER GOLF

IT'S THE HUMIDITY

It may be a poor time to bring up a subject like a HEAT WAVE but it makes a trick letter golf puzzle. Par is six and one solution, which you may be able to beat, is on page 9.

H	E	A	T
W	A	V	E

THE RULES

- 1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.
- 2—You can change only one letter at a time.
- 3—You must have a complete word of common usage, for each jump. slang words and abbreviations don't count.
- 4—The order of letters cannot be changed.

NOTHING BUT SMALL TROUT FOR HOOVER

Commerce Secretary Catches Many Fish, but None Exceeded Seven Inches

Shasta Springs, Calif.—(P)—The lure of the mountain trout brought Herbert Hoover to the Mount Shasta region where he hoped to have better luck Wednesday than smiled upon him Tuesday in the Klamath river section to the northward. There he made a good catch. But the rainbows were too small to furnish real sport.

After failing to find any sizeable fish around the Brown camp region, the Republican presidential candidate decided suddenly to personally investigate reports that there was good fishing in the Pit and McCloud rivers near the base of the gigantic Shasta mountain which dominates the plains here for scores of miles.

The first place he selected did not quite suit his fancy, so he rode a short space down the stream where he began to cast again. The waters there held trout six or seven inches long. The first catches were thrown back into the creek, but when it became apparent that they were as large as were to be had, Hoover kept thirteen and his two companions added their catch of a dozen each.

These were taken back to camp and served to Mr. Hoover's immediate party at dinner.

After trying the waters here during the day, the presidential nominee and his party will take an evening's train for San Francisco, arriving early Thursday morning and continuing to Palo Alto by motor.

Miss Rose Goldstein, Perth Amboy, N. J., is visiting at the home of her brother, Harry Goldstein, 1112 East North-st.

MARSHALL AND REED INTO NEW QUARTERS

Physicians Have Suite of Ten Rooms in Spector Building, Others Move Out

Dr. Victor F. Marshall and Dr. C. C. Reed have moved into their new offices in the Spector building, and will be completely settled within a few days. Outside of re-decorating, very little remodeling is being done, as the offices are practically the same as they were five years ago when Dr. Marshall was located there.

The new suite consists of ten offices, five of which will be used for consulting rooms, two for the X-ray department, and the others for laboratory, library and office.

Dr. J. L. Benton, Lonsdorf & Stalld, P. L. Clark, P. A. Kornely, and the Valley Engineering company, former occupants of the Spector building, all have moved to new locations. Dr. Benton is located in room 217 Lutheran Aid building, and will be completely settled by the end of this week. Lonsdorf & Stalld and Clark have moved into the Wolf building, and Kornely and the Valley Engineering company are located in the Dangel building on W. College-ave.

WIDENING OF CURVE UP BEFORE COUNCIL

The widening of the curve at the junction of Carver and W. Prospect-sts will be brought up at the meeting of the city council Wednesday evening. Some time ago it was decided to round out the curve at this point in order to eliminate the dangerous corner, but work was held up through the inability to get the deed for the property necessary to extend the radius.

OPEN NEW SHINING AND REPAIR SHOP SATURDAY

Frank Stoegbauer expects to open a new shoe shining parlor, hat cleaning, and shoe repairing establishment at 320 W. College-ave, Saturday. Eight chairs for shining shoes, and modern hat cleaning equipment has been installed. The shoe repairing department will be in the rear of the shop. The building formerly was divided into two sections, half being used by Mr. Stoegbauer as a shoe repair shop and the other as a restaurant. The building has been remodeled and redecorated.

SOCIETY

PLAY WILL FEATURE
DEDICATION OF PARK
AT NEENAH TONIGHT

Old Loggery, Home of State's Second Territorial Governor, Made into Museum

Neenah—With the formal dedication of Doty Island park, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, and the open air production of the English comedy drama "Prunella," the loggery, the home of the second territorial governor of Wisconsin, will be opened to the public. The old building, which was moved from its original location on the Strange estate, to a permanent place in the park which bears the governor's name, has a new lighting system, is repainted and replastered on the outside, and is to be used as a museum for relics of early days in Neenah. Quite a collection of articles, many of which were owned by the Doty family, has been placed in the building.

The park will be open to the public, the only admission to be charged is into the enclosure in which the play is to be given. Cars are not allowed inside the park, but arrangements have been made for plenty of parking space on the outside. Thursday evening, the 27th Field Artillery band, Appleton, will give a concert in the park from 7 o'clock until 8:15, followed by the last presentation of the play.

TIMELY HIT WINS
FOR NEENAH TEAM

Peterson Wins Title of Horseshoe Pitching Champion of Playgrounds

Neenah—With one man out, the score at a tie, William Handler, second baseman for the Neenah Paper company softball team, knocked a fly to center, bringing in Madison from third and won the game with the Appleton Sixth warders Tuesday evening by a score of 3 and 7 at Columbia park. A crowd estimated at 1500 people witnessed what was claimed to be the best game so far played on the Columbia park diamond this season.
Appleton had a lead throughout the game until the fifth inning when Madison scored a homer, bringing in two men with him. The score went into a tie during the sixth inning with the papers at last but, Kranzusch and Kranzusch was the Appleton battery and Madison and Schultz was the battery for the papers. Points during the game were made by McChesney, Radke, Kranzusch and Luppinger for Appleton, and Madison, W. Handler, C.
Handler, N. Handler and Schultz for Neenah.

Peterson defeated Schmidt Tuesday evening, two out of three games in the championship horseshoe pitching tournament and was claimed the annual champion in the playground horseshoe activities. Peterson won the last two games with scores of 50 to 46 and 50 to 47, while Schmidt won the first match by a score of 50 to 42.

The Doty park Yankee team of the Cadet league, was defeated Tuesday afternoon in a game of softball, by the Appleton Columbus school team by a score of 13 to 9.

SPORTSMEN WILL HEAR
TALK ABOUT GAME LAWS

Neenah—Plans are being made for the meeting of the Neenah Sportsmen club in September, shortly before the 16th, the opening day of the annual hunting season. For this meeting it is proposed to secure a well known speaker who is in a position to analyze the game laws, new provisions and sections. Following the talk a supper will be served followed by cards. The first annual picnic given by the club last Sunday at Lake Poygan, which was attended by more than 700 people of Neenah, Menasha and Horshamville, was so much of a success that the club has decided to make it an annual affair.

Neenah—The total circulation of books at the Neenah public library was 3,655 in July, according to the monthly report of Miss Mae Hart, librarian. Of this number the adult circulation was 2,606 and the children circulation 1,079. Rural patrons drew out 15 books and repairs were made on 121 books. Five hundred and fifty-three who patronized the reading and reference room during the month of July. The library is open from 10
five hundred and eighty-four over July, 1927.

TWIN CITY FOLKS GIVE FLOWERS TO THEIR HOSPITAL

Residents of Neenah and Men-asha are invited to offer flowers for patients confined in Theda Clark hospital to be picked up by Appleton Post-Crescent Flower Cars beginning Saturday, June 2, and continue Saturday until the end of the flower season next fall.

Persons who will have flowers for the hospital are invited to leave their names and addresses at Ellers Drug store, phone 21, if they live in Neenah, and at Frank Hoffmann's grocery, phone 212, if their residence is in Menasha.

All calls must be made to those places before 5:15 on Saturday morning. It will be impossible for the Flower Cars to call for flowers if the calls are received after that hour.

OFFERS TRACT FOR PRESBYTERIAN CAMP

Neenah—S. F. Shattuck of Neenah, has been elected a member of a board of directors composed of nine men in the Winnebago Presbytery, to act in connection with others interested in a tract of land and building an Archibald Lake in Oconto, which has been offered to the Presbytery by W. A. Holt of Oconto. It is planned to erect a Presbyterian camp for summer conference purposes. Suitable buildings are to be erected upon a 16-acre tract of virgin timber lands. Ten acres of covey land will be used for various amusement and recreational sports, such as athletic camps, volleyball courts, tennis and baseball grounds.
A similar camp at Chetek, is owned by the Chippewa Presbytery.

NEENAH COUNCILMEN TO ACT ON BIDS FOR ORNAMENTAL LIGHTS

New System Probably Will Be Installed in Most of Downtown Section

Neenah—The bid of the Valley Construction company of Neenah for $2,500 for installing the ornamental lighting system on Wisconsin-ave between Walnut-st and Main-sts, and on
S. Commercial-st from Wisconsin-ave to Franklin-ave, being the lowest submitted, was authorized and recommended for acceptance at the Wednesday evening meeting of the city council.

There were three bids submitted, the others being Otto Spude, $3,309, and Schultz and Frehr, $4,264. Following the acceptance of the bid, arrangements will be made to start work immediately. The city engineer was instructed to prepare plans for the extension of the ornamental system from the north end of the Commercial-bridge to the north city limits at Nie-olet-bldg so that the work can be started during the fall.

The board also voted to not allow merchants to place their goods upon the sidewalks for show purpose other than within the lawful distance from the building.

Janitor accidentally discharges revolver

Neenah—While cleaning the office of Postmaster James Fritzen, Tuesday morning, and while handling a 45-caliber revolver, William Peterson, janitor at the postoffice, accidentally pulled the trigger and discharged the gun. The bullet tore through the post-master's chair, waste basket and lodged in the floor after passing through the rug. Fortunately, the gun was not pointed out into the workroom where a dozen men were at work.

Lunch tonight at Sam's place

PETERS UP FOR TRIAL
ON WOMAN'S COMPLAINT

Neenah—Trial of George Peters of Beaver Dam, formerly a Neenah baker, started Tuesday in Municipal court at Oshkosh before Municipal Judge Goss. Peters is charged with attempted assault and with assault and battery. The complaint having been made by a Menasha woman. Peters made delivery of his bakery goods daily at home and it was while on this business last spring at the Men-asha home that the assault is alleged to have been committed.

NEENAH POLICE MAKE
33 ARRESTS IN JULY

Neenah—Traffic law violations and drunk and disorderly charges were about equal in July, according to the monthly report made by Charles Watts, chief of police. There were 33 arrests made in the month, 15 for traffic violations and 18 for drunk and disorderly. There was one bogus check writer and one insane person captured and returned to the asylum at Winnebago.

$10 and costs Tuesday for reckless driving. Pat Kepock was fined $25 and costs for driving a car without a tag.

Canadian Schoolboy Wins
Both Olympic Dash Titles

Olympic Stadium, Amsterdam—(AP)—
A double triumph for the 19-year-old Canadian boy. Percy Williams, who added the 200 meters to his 100 meter victory to win the world's sprint title, crowned another disastrous day for Americans on the Olympic track.

Williams won as impressively as he had in the 100, with the only American finalist, Jackson Scholz, the defending champion, tied with the German, Helmut Koenig, for third.

It was the third Yankee setback of the day on the track, for the 110 meter hurdles were won by Sidney Atkinson from Stephen Anderson and two other Americans while Lloyd Eahn's downfall was completed when he was forced to quit in the 1500 meter trials.

America found some satisfaction
when two of its pole-vaulters, Sabin Carr and William Droegemuller, both shattered the Olympic record, clearing 410 meters, the equivalent of 13 feet 4 7/16 inches.

Droegemuller again shattered the pole vault a few moments later when he went over the bar at 420 meters or 13 feet 9 1/16 inches.

Carr stayed right with Droegemul-ler by duplicating his feat or clearing 13 feet 9 1/16 inches in the pole vault, adding another fracture to the old record.

Ed Houser held up the United States reputation for strength in the field events by winning the discus championship with an Olympic record breaking toss of 47 3/4 meters or 155 feet 2 1/16 inches.

The Los Angeles dentist thus retained his title won in 1924 when his winning effort was 46 1/4 meters and broke his own Olympic record set on that occasion which was the equivalent of 151 feet 5 1/16 inches.

Al Kivi of Finland was second to Houser and Jim Corson, an American, was third, all surpassing the Olympic record. John Anderson of Cornell, third U. S. representative, was fifth.

WISCONSIN BOY THIRD
Olympic Stadium, Amsterdam—(AP)—
The Stars and stripes were unfurled on all three poles denoting the first three places in an event for the first time when Charles E. McGinnis, former University of Wisconsin star, leaped to a third place in the pole vault after Sabin Carr and William Droegemuller had won the event. Mc-Ginnis cleared 3.95 meters or 12 feet 1 1/4 inches.

McGinnis tied with Vic Pickard of Canada and Lee Barnes, who shared the Olympic championship in 1924 through a tie with Glenn Graham, for third place, but won the jump-off for the medal. Pickard then beat Barnes for the fourth place points.

HINTZ RECOVERING
FROM BLAST BURNS

Menasha—A Turk will never massacre human under 12 years of age because it is against his religious precepts, according to William Yonan, a young Turk who has experiences of Xosnan Persian traveler, at the joint meeting of Neenah and Menasha Kiwanis clubs at Camp Chickagami boy scout camp, Tuesday evening. Mr. Yonan, who was scheduled to speak, was called out of town so a few of his experiences were related by Mr. Sparks.

Mr. Yonan was an interpreter in Russia, a young Turk was about to be executed as a spy. Yonan and his family, fleeing from the Turks, were driven into the desert.
The assassins approached, and the fugitives feeling they must die, raised their necks for the enemy's axes.

The sword was poised above Yonan's throat when he recognized the Turk.
He had freed in Russia. The Turk recognized him also, and let him and his party go free.

Scoutmaster Clark explained scout emblems of which there are 30 or 40.
A baseball game between the Kiwanis and the scouts was won by the scouts by a score of 11 to 8.

It was decided that the boy scout camp will be open to business men for a week, Aug. 12 to 15.

WIFE GIVEN DIVORCE
AND CUSTODY OF CHILD

Menasha—Mrs. Ethel Anderson,
Menasha, obtained a decree of divorce
Monday in county court, from George Anderson. The action was not contested. They were married Dec. 21, 1914 at Oshkosh. The judge found that the defendant had treated the plaintiff in a cruel and inhuman manner, including physical violence. She was given custody of the minor child, with the understanding that the child is to remain with Mrs. George Kuehn, an aunt, until further order of the court.

ADD MANY LATE BOOKS
TO MENASHA'S LIBRARY

Menasha—As before said, some reading matter is to be tested, some swallowed, and some carefully chewed and well digested. When they want a quick lunch and a Menasha people run over to one of the many magazine stands in the city when they decide they'll take a regular dinner
they go to the Menasha public library.
Among the most popular non-fiction books at the library are "Napoleon" by Emil Ludwig, "The Road to Rome" by Royal Road to Rome by Richard Halliburton, "Disraeli" by Andre Maurois,
"Mother India" by Katherine Mayo,
"Son of Mother India Answers" by Durgumkar, and "Story of Philosophy" by Dean.

Most popular fiction books are
"Winter Snow" by Walpole, "Bridge of San Luis Rey" by T. N. Wilder, "Red Rust" by Cannon, "Ghosts in the Earth" by Rohaag, "Dusty Answer" by Lehman and "Crimson Roses" by Grace Livingston Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Grum, Chicago, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs.
James Holley for the past few days,
left Tuesday. Miss Loretta Hotzman, Milwaukee, is visiting the Holleys for a few days.

S. J. Resch, mail carrier, is on the sick list.

Miss Winnie Parker, Neperville, Ill., who has been visiting Juanita Miller for the past week, leaves for her home Thursday.

Miss Marion Young, and Juanita Miller, directors of the Young Woman's club, are leaving for Europe Saturday. They will sail from Quebec and visit England, France, and other countries on the continent. Miss Miller directs the club at Neenah but her home is in Chicago.

Hubert Remer, formerly of this city, who has been working in the Chicago office of the Marathon Paper-co, has been transferred to the position of salesman. His place in the Chicago office is being taken by Bob Halford, formerly of this city and Appleton, who has been on the road up to this time.

Frank Resch, contractor for the new Menasha theatre, left for Barabao, Wednesday, where he is putting up a school building.

MAN'S LOST VOICE
RETURNS SUDDENLY
AFTER TWO WEEKS

John Seymour Is Unable to Utter an Intelligible Sound
for a Fortnight

Menasha—An uncanny fortnight was spent by John Seymour between Saturday, two weeks ago, when his voice left him while he was digging a sewer three miles from Waverly beach, and last Saturday when the missing voice returned as mysteriously as it left.
Doctors who examined him while he was in the hospital where he was taken when his vocal ability left him, said they could find no structural disorder.
Mr. Seymour said he could make unintelligible noises, but could not utter words. His speech is still deficient.

Loss of speech, aphonia, or hysterical mutism is not unknown in the medical world. According to psychotherapists, after some sudden emotion or fright or accident, a nervous person may be quite unable to talk.

Charcot cites the case of a man whose wife had run away from him and had been taken back three times. Each time on her disappearance he had an attack of aphonia, inability to utter a sound of any kind. It lasted for from several weeks to a few days.

These cases are much more common in women. After disappointment in love or a scare, the patients become unable to speak. Sometimes they can whisper but cannot phonate. The trouble is entirely functional, and if the patient's mind is properly predisposed, speech returns without difficulty. Massage, and occasionally hypnosis have proved successful. The latter means, however, is not recommended for the patients who are highly nervous. Plain suggestion proves just as effective.

Aphonia is allied to amnesia, sudden loss of memory, alexia, sudden loss of locomotive powers, and ataxia, inability to read or pronounce words though the patient understand their meanings.

Stuttering is a mild form of aphonia. It is a mental trouble caused usually by a lack of muscular coordination and embarrassment. In other words, stuttering is a nervous apprehension. The stutterer is so afraid he will not be able to talk correctly that he doesn't. An added impediment to his speech is that he has a morbid fear of the morbid fear and cures the stutter. Demosthenes, the famous Greek orator, who stuttered in his boyhood, cured himself by orating to the waves with a pebble in his mouth; while the Rev. Charles Kinsley, one of the most distinguished literary men in England, cured his stutter by keeping a cork fast between his back teeth.

DELIBERATE FALSEHOOD

Why is it that certain politicians cannot or will not confine themselves to the truth in their campaigns for office? Is it any less dishonorable to falsify and misrepresent the facts in politics than it is to be dishonest in business and in private life? Mr. Blaine, for instance, is quoted as making the charge that the last amended tax bill lifted the burdens of taxation from corporations. "to the tune of over a million dollars a year" and put them on the backs of small income taxpayers. This is deliberate falsification and Mr. Blaine knew it to be so if he made it, yet he occupies the high office of United States senator and claims to be a man of repute.

He and others associated with him in this campaign in behalf of Mr. Beck are quoted as asserting that Nash Motors Company was relieved of a large amount of income taxes by this bill, and as implying that this was a part of the price the company received for supporting Mr. Zimmerman for governor.

Both the general and specific charges are without foundation. The income tax law of the last legislature did not change by one penny the income tax paid by the Nash Company or by any other large and profitable corporation in Wisconsin. It did not alter the taxes of any corporation large or small, whose earnings do not exceed $6,000 per year. The new law is of no benefit whatever to well established, prosperous corporations. Nor has it shifted taxation from the incomes of the corporations to those of the individual.

The new tax law made one important change, in the adoption of three-year average income as a basis for computing taxes. It is a wholly wise and constructive change, patterned after a system in use in Canada many years and so far as results go after administration of the federal income tax law. Because of the average provision of the law no corporation will pay in any year exactly the same as it would pay on a single year's income. Some years it will pay more, and some years less. All will depend on the amount of income. However, the average will not reduce the total payments of tax one cent so long as the corporation has a net income of over $6,000 a year.

Nash Motors and other large corporations which are under attack by these politicians are of course above the $6,000 class. The charges that they have been relieved of taxes are therefore complete fabrications and without color of truth. The new law will be of some benefit to corporations having less than $6,000 net income each year, and will aid those especially that have a variable income and that show at the end of the year a loss instead of a profit. The average provision works something like this: If a concern showed a net loss of $5,000 one year and a net profit of $5,000 the next year, it would pay no tax either year, the average profit being zero. It would be relieved of tax on the profitable year on the theory that its losses of the previous year affected its ability to pay and ought to be taken into account. Of course, the average applies for three years instead of two. Keep in mind that fact that this is of benefit only to those corporations whose net income does not go above $6,000 each year. The aid it extends is to small and struggling concerns, and was so intended. The total amount of benefit these small corporations may receive is wholly guess work and cannot be known until the third year has passed.

The three year average provision may also benefit individuals with incomes of less than $12,000 a year, but not those with incomes above that. The statement that the new law "relieves the rich and adds to the burdens of the poor" is "false," to use the words of the state tax commission.

The amended tax law did not change the tax rates on income of either corporations or individuals. The rates remain identically the same in the new law as they were in the old. The taxes paid by corporations with an income in excess of $6,000 per year are not reduced one cent. Whenever Mr. Blaine or Mr. Beck or young LaFollette asserts that they are, and that a million or two million dollars of taxes (they are quoted both ways) has been lifted from corporations and transferred to the individual they are guilty of a flat untruth. When they or anyone of them make the statement that Nash Motors have been relieved of $200,000 in taxes annually and the Allis-Chalmers Company of $25,000 annually they are guilty of another flat falsehood. We are not arguing for the fairness or unfairness of the Wisconsin tax law. We are not discussing its merits in any sense. We are confining ourselves to the ethics, propriety and common honesty of campaign utterances which not only show a total disregard for truth, but willfully and deliberately assert what is not true. How voters can place confidence in politicians of this type, how even their own partisans can continue to support them, is beyond our comprehension, unless they are to stand on the proposition that they do not want the truth and do not wish to be either fair or just.

A $9,000 PENALTY

The extent of the penalty which Outagamie county taxpayers are to pay because of the resolution adopted by the county board of supervisors specifying that only amiesite might be used for surfacing County Trunk Z, between Appleton and Kaukauna, was revealed a few days ago when the city of Kaukauna opened bids for paving a number of streets in that city.

The city of Kaukauna, complying with the law, advertised for several types of pavement whereas the county board, in its resolution authorizing a bond issue, stated specifically that amiesite only could be used. Kaukauna, inviting competition in pavement types, secured bids materially lower than were offered the county which refused to entertain competitive bids.

A comparison of low bids submitted to Outagamie county and to Kaukauna makes interesting reading. The lowest bid for amiesite given the county for a project involving 37,438 yards of the material was $1.45 a square yard compared with $1.38 submitted to Kaukauna for a considerably smaller quantity. If the same bid had been offered the county a saving of $2,600 might have been realized on that item alone.

Although Kaukauna's paving jobs are in scattered pieces involving considerable movement of machinery, the bid for scarifying offered the city is 10 cents per square yard, compared with a 20 cent bid to the county, making a difference of $3,700 on the basis of 37,000 square yards on the county trunk.

Outagamie county awarded the contract for stone base on the road on the basis of $3.90 a cubic yard for 4,000 cubic yards while Kaukauna was offered a bid of $2.90, a difference of 95 cents a cubic yard and a total of $3,800 if the Kaukauna figures were applied to the county contract.

Because of the necessity for frequent movement of machinery the bid offered Kaukauna for excavating was 15 cents a cubic yard higher than the proposal made to the county but if the Kaukauna bid was applied to the county job it would make the cost of excavating only $750 higher. Applying all the bids offered the city of Kaukauna to the totals involved in County Trunk Z paving the cost to the county would be only $71,164.44, compared with $80,535.10 which the county contracted to pay for the work, a difference of $9,371 which county property owners will have to pay because their representatives presented the contract to patented pavement contractors on a gold platter, eliminating the competition with other types of pavement which undoubtedly would have had the effect of forcing amiesite bidders to trim their prices to meet competition.

Since the attention of the public was called to this careless handling of the county's money a number of supervisors have been quoted as saying they did not realize they were shutting out competition when they voted for the bond resolution. If that is true it is time Outagamie county gets men who will be alert to what is going on in county affairs. The aftermath of the bond resolution clearly shows that there is something radically wrong with the county's business management.

WHY FIREPLACES SMOKE

Unless a man is going into the meat preserving business it is better to indicate the situation and size of the fireplace desired and leave it to the mason to build the chimney unhampered by inept advice.

Bartlett is so inadequate, sometimes. A good enough reference book for small jobs but not one for the professional to depend on. Quite useless in 70 per cent of my own demands. For instance, not a word about the poor workman quarreling with his tools. Nay, nor is the reference to be discovered under mechanic, artisan, craftsman, smith or any other disguise. I have been at considerable pains to make sure about this. You see, I have learned wisdom—I have a Stanley plane in my tool chest. I have had it for several years, and so far I have my doubts though I am not yet prepared to deny unreservedly that it will cut any of the dikes the instruction book says it will.

Speaking of craftsman, a dentist takes me sharply to task for the unfortunate wording of a reply I printed to a query about a baby's decayed teeth. I advised the mother to "let the dentist put a temporary filling" in the decayed tooth. Now the critical friend asks two mean questions, and I admit he has me cornered. First he deposes and says:

"Why let the dentist do it?"
Gosh, I dunno. I just imagined the mother couldn't make him do it, and from the character of the query I feared she would not beseech him to come to the molar's rescue, so I just compromised on letting the dentist have a look-see. But as I just said, this dentist asks mean questions, and I mean mean. Here is the second one:

"Why a temporary filling? Goodness knows any and all fillings will serve only a limited period of usefulness" and some more technical discussion of dentistry.

Well, half brother, you win. What size of hat or what style of pipe do you prefer? I suppose I was trying to break it to the young mother by gentle degrees. Then, too, I have heard dentists speak of putting in a soft or temporary filling, and they said it as though it might be little more than cleaning out the cavity and pushing a hunk of rubber gum or something of the kind into the hole. Painless and quickly over with—necessarily so, when the patient is a baby. Not only is that my impression, but now that I have presented my half brother with his new hat or pipe I am bold to say it is also my observation. I have seen good dentists put some such filling in baby teeth and the filling has saved the tooth from further decay until nature was through with it. That made a sound place for the permanent tooth to come in. I reckon I had this notion in mind when I used the term temporary. I don't know a thing about the character or endurance of the substance the dentist uses in filling, but whatever it may be, I am rooting for him to use it earlier and oftener in the conservation of the baby teeth.

Recent studies in nutrition indicate that the child's diet is an important factor, if not the most important, in the prevention of decay of the teeth. We will give the gist of these studies in another talk.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Kindly inform me of the next beauty and health contest for babies and for children. (Mrs. L. L.)

Answer—Well, if I were king and my views on health were constitutional there would never be any more health or beauty contests. In my judgment the health contests are as farcical as the beauty contests are. All of these alleged contests are arranged and conducted for the principle purpose of providing publicity for something or somebody that never could get it legitimately.

Which'd rather, Do or Go Fishing

Kindly let me know how many calories there are in a half pound of spaghetti, with tomato sauce, cooked in oil and about two ounces of Parmesan cheese. I have been on 1,000 calories a day diet but have lost only two pounds in three weeks. (T. M. A.)

Answer—The half pound of spaghetti yields 320 calories, the two ounces of cheese 240 calories, and then maybe 30 or 40 more calories floating about in the oil. Spaghetti prepared in the way you indicate is a grand dish, only they do become very careless sometimes. We who do honest labor have to discriminate about our nourishment if we want to live long. Spaghetti with real Italian cheese is virtually a vegetarian dish; we ought to keep it so.

I need a Myopic Assistant

What do you recommend for skinny legs? Is cocoa butter good? (Miss K. A. B.)

Answer—We really should have the measurements—but my assistant is out. However, let us take it for granted that they are. Now, cocoa butter is the most unappetizing nutrient conceivable, though I do not deny that it has a limited food value. It is as difficult to digest as it is to eat. Of course there is no other way to assimilate food. If you imagine you can rub in some food, well, it isn't done outside of fabled parlors. Hence you better accumulate flesh in the conventional manner, via normal digestion? My assistant will return soon. Write again and ask for instructions for gaining weight. Meanwhile walk five or six miles every day. (Copyright by John F. Dille company.)

LIBRARY ADVENTURES

By Arnold Mulder

THE LEGEND OF MARGOT ASQUITH

In his "Essay on Criticism" Alexander Pope describes with great and some personal bitterness the critic who lets rank determine his judgment on books. Let an average person write a title write the greatest poem of his age and she has a critic will condemn it utterly. Let a Lord write mediocre verse and it is highly praised. Let a person of royal blood write wretched doggerel and it is held to be the work of pure genius.

This attitude toward literature has by no means entirely disappeared in the process of democratization. Give people a chance to worship and many of them will do it every time. When titles prepetrate books they will carry their worship over into criticism and judge the books accordingly to the rank of the writer.

There is for instance the latest book of Lady Oxford, wife of the former prime minister of England and better known as Margot Asquith. It is Margot's first novel and she has called it "Octavia." Those who are familiar with the life of Margot Asquith will easily recognize the fact that she dramatized in her character Octavia a person a good deal like Margot herself who was something of a sensation in England as a girl, who married Herbert Asquith and who continued to be something of a personality. Not that the parallel is any more obvious than in the books of most writers but it is quite recognizable.

Aside from the fact that "Octavia" was written by Lady Oxford, I can't see any good reason why it should have been published at all. There are large numbers of manuscripts that are consistently rejected by the publishers but that have a far better chance to be published than had "Octavia" had the luck to be written by a lady of title, and it must be admitted, by a personality. Apparently the publishers believed that there are enough people who worship titles to make the book a good financial prospect—that is enough people, who as per the description of Pope, who judge their books by the rank of the authors.

As work of art "Octavia" is wholly negligible. It is stiff and stilted and at times it becomes so ridiculous that one wonders what has become of the alleged sense of humor of the woman whom William Watson described as the "woman with the serpent's tongue."

Which suggests the question: Where did the legend arise that Margot Asquith is so devilish, so unconquerable, such a tremendous personality? Either she is much more stimulating in her personal life and conversation than in her books or else there can be explanation.

A few years ago Margot Asquith published her memoirs. The book came in two volumes and it was heralded by the advance notices as an event in English literary history. It was hinted that now at last the "woman with the serpent's tongue" was going to reveal facts about the upper circles of English society that would cause a great fluttering in the dovecotes. Their were hints of possible slander suits if the revelations should prove to be too raw and for a time the literary and social world was kept on the edge of expectation.

But nothing happened. The book was like a firecracker that fizzles. Not only was there no dynamite in it but not even any black powder. I kept wondering while I yawned through two thick volumes when the personally stuff was going to begin, when the much advertised revelations were to appear. Like thousands of other readers who had bought the book under a misapprehension I was not on the trail of quaint gossip. But the book proved a dud.

Whatever the reason Margot Asquith did not get herself across in her autobiography. She succeeds even less in her fictionalized autobiography, "Octavia." Those who expect it to live up to the legend of Margot Asquith are likely to be greatly disappointed; they will wonder whether that legend has any basis in fact.

Q. Why are there more earthquakes in Europe and Asia than in the United States? H. K.

A. The occurrence of earthquakes depends on strains set up by changes in elevation and other slow earth movements. There are more such actively moving regions in Europe and Asia than in the United States, hence more quakes. The details as to why certain regions are in this state of change, and others are not, fully known.

Q. How can blocks of salt be made?

A. Salt may be made into blocks by first reducing it to brine and then evaporating it in a pan of the desired size. It may be evaporated in an open pan by means of the sun's heat, or by the application of artificial heat.

Q. When was the Corcoran Art Gallery given to the city of Washington? J. F. E.

A. The nucleus of this gallery was its position north or south of the equator. It is not known when and by whom the first magnet was discovered. The first scientific work on the laws of magnets was done by William Gilbert (1540-1603), who published his researches in his book, "De Magnete."

Q. In traveling in the East, is it advisable to take hot baths? S. E.

A. Japan is about the only place where a very hot bath will be found invigorating. Whether it is due to the climate the Japanese take baths so hot that one could hardly put a finger in the water. It is not enervating as it is practically everywhere else.

Q. What is meant by dying a natural death? R. T.

A. The Public Health Service says that all deaths from diseases are spoken of as natural causes of death. Other causes of death are those resulting from accident or violence.

Q. Why are eggs so generally used as food? G. S.

A. Eggs are highly digestible and nutritious and can be served in so many attractive forms that they are very extensively used. Of the dry matter of the edible portion of the egg, 95 per cent is digested by man.

Q. Where is tigerwood found? E. D.

A. There is a wood found in British Guiana, richly striped with black and brown, which is given the name tigerwood. In Guiana it is called itaka-wood.

Q. Where was the first session of Congress held after the burning of the United States Capitol? G. P. C.

A. The first session was held in the Blodgett Building, located at 7th and E. Streets, N. W., the site now occupied by the Land Office Building.

A. The nucleus of this gallery was the private collection of William Wilson Corcoran, which he presented to the city of Washington in 1868 with an endowment fund of $900,000.

Q. How are the most up-to-date bathhouses built at seashore resorts? N. G.

A. The newest bathhouses are being built on a framework of steel and concrete and the buildings are fireproof.

Q. What was Tom Thumb's real name? C. R.

A. The real name of Tom Thumb was Charles Sherwood Stratton. He was born in 1833 at Bridgeport, Connecticut. He died in 1883.

Q. What do bats do in the day time? H. K.

A. Bats spend the hours of day light in leaves, ruins, hollow trees, garrets, and similar hiding places. They sometimes resort to caverns in vast numbers. At dusk they fly forth alone or in pairs searching for food.

See-Sawing On Broadway

By Gilbert Swan

New York — Carefully cut-and-dried ceremonials now mark the entrance into New York of celebrities near celebrities and potential celebrities who, for one reason or another, are chosen for a bow toward the spotlight.

Be it a rising young author, be it a fading old author, be it a French vicar, a German movie actress, a Polish movie actress newly arrived on these shores, be it a trapeze artist from the Hollywood camps, the conductor of a jazz band or a radio presario — the routine is followed with meticulous monotony of detail.

Only the setting changes. If the object of introduction is a young and very arly writer, the "caption" is staged in somebody's office in Greenwich Village and one's choice between good tea and one's bathtub gin. All the "who's who" the cosmopolitan and intelligent are likely to be assembled to spend the late afternoon hours in the small talk of their trade or art, or whatever it is. Eventually the rising young author gets his or her inning with the assembled columnists, critics and people who amount to something.

If the central figure chances to be a movie person of reputation, the glitter is laid on a little thicker. The reception now takes place in one of the many special rooms of a ritzy hotel. Uniform lackeys stand at attention, taking the freyed hats and coats of the columnists, critics, fan magazine writers and such. An elaborate free lunch counter becomes dignified with the title of "buffet" and here you will find lobster couchant and chicken salad rampant on a field such as only a French chef can arrange.

The important people, chiefly female, sit about at the tea tables, their swanlike afternoon dresses and wistfully with the workaday raincoats of the "working newspaper people." But don't fool yourself, it is toward the latter that the dignitary must turn his eyes, his smiles and his conversation, if possible. The newspaper folk, the columnists — such even as I — take the swift opportunity to spread the latest gossip of the trade.

Or, perhaps if the reception happens to be for someone who is to be splashed upon Broadway in gaudy lights, nothing short of the Ritz Crystal Room will do, and half the diamonds of Broadway paste and real, are taken out for the air—to say nothing of the heirs. Then an orchestra is retained, Folies girls go about with souveniers and the hostess, Miss Horn, unconcerned while you sit, rather than while you stand. These are certainly gala and frequently gay.

Of the receptions I have attended in the past week — and I've lost count — that staged in the suite occupied by Miss Camilla Horn, latest movie idol, continues to amuse me. Miss Horn, unconscious to the "zo-gester" American, had become quite tired, thanks to the rushing about to photograph reporters and such. When the "friends" dropped in she made no attempt to disguise her fatigue, sumarily fell asleep.

Jean Hersholt, one of my two favorite film character players, had her reception around a couple of bridge tables, at which sat his wife and son — the latter insisting on a lowly dish as beans. And Lil Damita, M. Goldwyn's newest find had mama present and served nothing but tea. Which was very disappointing to the array of "free lunch hounds" that often trail these receptions, and thus cut down expenses.

LEWIS DREW GROVES

WHAT HAS HAPPENED
VIRGINIA BREWSTER, after losing both father and wealth, consents to make her home with CLARISSA DEAN and her father, DEAN, who is a man from her family. NATHANIEL DANN, but fails and later is forced to pay blackmail to a MRS. FARLEY or face scandal. CLARISSA becomes jealous of her and VIRGINIA resolves to leave, but DEAN insists that she marry him. When she refuses, he threatens to reveal the fact that her father cheated him out of $100,000 in a bootlegging deal. Recklessly, she promises to earn enough to repay him in one year—no more than him.

VIRGINIA leaves but has to pawn a ring to tide over until she can find a position. She goes to NIEL's studio but her joy at seeing him is clouded because she dare not reveal her promise to DEAN and also because of the familiarity with which his model, CHIRI, treats NIEL.

She seeks work through an agency but without success. One evening she finds an orchid at her hotel from DEAN and wonders how he learned her address. Coming home from dining out with NIEL one night, VIRGINIA notices a man whom she has suspected of shadowing her for several days.

A call from the agency brings hope, but when she goes there she is advised to accept help from friends or marry. VIRGINIA believes that DEAN has bribed the agency not to help her get work. She goes to other agencies but word leaks out to the papers that the Brewster girl is job-seeking and she is besieged by reporters.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXX

Virginia recognized the man instantly. It was the same figure she had seen step hastily back into the shadows when she and Nathaniel were taking a taxi cab from the Russian restaurant and now she knew where she had first seen him.

He was the man on the bus? The man whose behavior had puzzled her. She remembered how silently he had come down the steps in her wake on that occasion, how he had chanced to turn and find him directly behind her.

And now here he was. Virginia was certain he had not been invited. "It's spying on me," she told herself furiously, back in her room. Her fury was not for the man who had shadowed her, however. It burned hot against the person she believed had employed him.

"So that's how he knew where to send the orchids!" she cried, thinking of Frederick Dean. "And he was the one who went to Mrs. Phelps. I'm sure of it!"

She was glad that she had not attempted to find a position under an assumed name. If Frederick Dean had set himself to hound her, or interfere, he could have made it very unpleasant for her in that case. As it was she had an answer. She was vowed silently that never, no matter what the outcome, should Frederick Dean hear her whimper.

Later she was to be even better pleased because the newspaper stories brought her many opportunities that otherwise would not have come to her.

First of all, old friends came forth with offers of a home and Virginia found great difficulty in refusing them. One by one they ceased to importune her as her "perfectly insane" firmness made itself felt and they were thus compelled to take her seriously.

was still living on the money she had raised at "Uncle Simon's," and her personal belongings were gradually disappearing from her room, she had received an unexpected boom as a result of the attentions of the press.

She had gone to the hotel manager and explained that she must have a cheaper room or leave the hotel. Her circumstances were fairly well known to the world at large by this time and Virginia had no need to keep up a false appearance.

The manager very genially assured her that he could not afford to lose her patronage and Virginia was told that if she would stay and pay for her room she might appear as often as she liked in the dining room as a guest of the management.

Naturally Virginia was inclined to refuse, but when it was explained to her that the hotel would consider itself well repaid she consented to think it over. She had been adamant in turning down all offers that smacked of charity but this was a business proposition. And while it did not please her to think of adorning the public dining room as an object of curiosity, it helped her morale to know that she had, even if not by her own efforts, earned her board.

Still she insisted upon a cheaper room and got one without a private bath. Now if she got so low in funds she had to accept the freedom of the dining room at least it would not be because of extravagant room rent, she prided herself as she packed her things for the transfer.

When it was made and she was settled in the cramped new quarters she realized that for the first time in many days there was a lull in her affairs.

It gave her time to think of Oliver and wonder if he had any news for her. Miss Evans had telephoned several times to say he wanted to see her, but Virginia had questioned her sufficiently to make sure it was not important and had not gone down. Now she decided to finish up the day with a visit to Wall Street.

Oliver professed great surprise at seeing her and chided her with neglecting him. "But I've been faithful just the same," he rattled on disarmingly, seeking to cover his eagerness. He hoped she would not see how glad he was that she had come.

"Have you made any headway?" she questioned without attempting to dissimble her true interest.

"Lots. You'll be rich in a few months, Virginia."

Virginia drew in her breath slowly and her eyes lighted up like stars. "I'll never be able to thank you," she breathed intensely.

"Nothing to that," he assured her. "But if you want to do something for a real blue guy come out to dinner with me tonight."

"Oh, I'm sorry," Virginia cried with genuine regret. "I always have dinner with Niel—Mr. Dann."

"Your boy friend, huh? Well, it was you who talked gratitude, you know. I never think about the damned thing."

Virginia glanced at him keenly. He did look awfully depressed and tired.

"Isn't Jeanie back from Aiken yet?" she asked sympathetically.

Oliver nodded glumly. "Back and off to the Riviera. Long Island next. That's my reason."

Virginia bit her lip in distress. She smarted a little under the thought he deemed her insincere in her protestation of gratitude. Perhaps she ought to dine with him—surely Nathaniel would understand!

She forgot that she hadn't told Na-

LITTLE JOE

WHEN NEAR A FRUIT TREE PEOPLE HELP THEMSELVES JUST BECAUSE THEY CAN'T HELP THEMSELVES

he went on "If you're throwing me down I'll go over there." He did not mean it as a threat, rather a plain statement of intention such as he might have made to anyone. To Virginia, however, it seemed that he was holding Chris's invitation over her head as the price of her final decision.

Two bright stars glowed in her cheeks and when angry tears stung her eyes she had been chosen to name Chris's partner. Did he guess that she would go away of the girl? Virginia did not know then to decide whether to accept Chris's invitation or Chris's partner and he was using to bargain with her. Well, if he hoped to fan the flames, she would give him no satisfaction.

"Then I'll see you tomorrow," she said placidly. "Have a good time!" She turned her head on the hook with an emphasis that belied the sweet tone of her voice.

When Oliver came back she was powdered and dressed with vigorous rapidity. There were no signs, beyond the dim gleam in her eyes, that she was feeling nervous.

The dinner with Oliver was the only one Virginia had had since she left Deans' and it was perfect in every respect. The food and service was excellent. It seemed that the black cloud of trouble that had settled over her would not lift long enough to prevent her to enjoy it.

The next evening was divided with two halves. Her hasty words with Nathaniel when he mentioned Chris's name, now that she was calmer to think, he could not have been capable of blaming her with anything but the most unbecoming jealousy even if he possessed her secret.

Virginia rebuffed herself harshly for having indulged such a contemptible desire to know.

But in common to this view and exonerating Nathaniel of one fault she still charged him with another. He had shown her that if she chose to dine with someone else he would go out and enjoy himself just the same. She believed her pride rebelled at the thought that he would try to push her into doing as he wished.

He ought to know that if he was with him I could always tell. I like him. She thought vaguely.

"What's the matter?" Oliver asked, leaning forward and worrying about that hundred-dollar bill and Virginia? You're not you know, I will be easy for you."

A PAGE OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Teach Child To Love Real Life Values

SHOULD begin early to fix a child's sense of values. American is too much inclined to prize possessions, puts too high a rating on amusement and gauges the value of most things by the money they represent. America loves good food, fine clothes, expensive cars, elaborate houses, big clubs, gorgeous hotels, and movies and theaters.

All these things seem to be the goal of the so-called younger generation. When they cannot have them, they are unhappy. Money is really the root of most evil in the United States, for we have not been trained to be happy without it.

Why is it that other peoples can be content with a little? Because they have been taught to live, from childhood, the things that do not take money to buy.

The sky, the land, the water, meadows, birds, animals, flowers, trees, sunsets, mountains, the sea, a green hill, garden, a church, books, music, religion, an open fire, friendliness, games, swimming, walking, the harvest, the snow, and the beauty of winter landscapes; cleverness with the hands, alertness of the mind, all these things are the real things of life. If children are taught very early to love and appreciate these things they won't grow up with the idea that to be happy one must have a pocketful of spending money.

These wonderful summer days I'd certainly find my way to the country with the children if it is only for a Saturday or a Sunday afternoon.

I should find places to walk through the daisy-studded meadows and by quiet brooks. I should sit very still under tall trees and wait for a timid squirrel or bird to take a chance on my company. And I should not be too academic. If you are going to tell about a stone or a wild flower, a yellow hammer, or a ground hog, don't say, "Now, children, I want you to learn—"

Everything in nature has its story and children adore being told things. They have a natural affinity for animals and birds. If you are careful you can make wildflowers and ferns and trees just as interesting. It is a world of fun to hunt for Jack-in-the-pulpits in dank shady spots. If you buy a little book to replenish your own stock of knowledge do not show it to the children. If you think it will make them gush—

Call the attention of the children to every beautiful sunset, and interest them in the clouds. The seasons all are beautiful. There is beauty in a rainstorm.

Children should be taught to play little store in fine clothes. They should not judge their friends by the kind of houses they live in. Train them away from that. Teach them the real way to choose friends. Real happiness lives in men's attitude and behavior. Train children away from the idea that they cannot be happy unless they are having thrills and spending money. Happiness lies in ourselves.

Dear Mom,

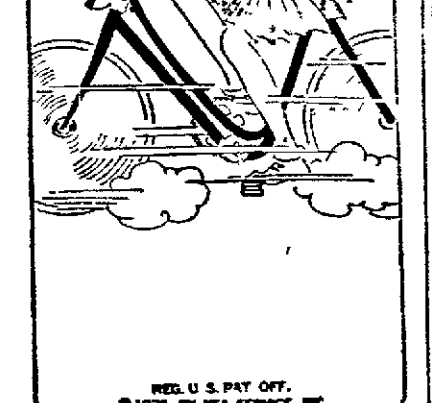

As a mannequin, I wouldn't be worth very much today—I have the most dazzling coat of sunburn you have ever seen. I positively radiate crimson rays.

Yesterday was one of those innocuous appearing days, when there was not much sun. So Helen and I spent nearly all day on the beach, enjoying the salt breezes and feeling rather kindly disposed toward the world generally.

In the evening I began to feel a bit uncomfortable and by midnight I realized that I must have burned off at least four layers of my outer epidermis.

Today, I burst out in this flames colored splendor and I must say I am a bit hard to look at. I'll have one of those gorgeous sun-kissed tans in a day or two and I really fancy myself with a brown finish, but today, I am no delight to the eye or to myself.

Brother Shelton gave one look at me and fled. He said he could not bear me that way, that I had wrecked all his illusions—he really is a terrible sentimentalist. I pointed out that I had wrecked my own comfort for a while, but that meant nothing to him. He really believes a woman has no right to be comfortable unless she can be decorative in so doing.

Helen, who has been out here for several weeks and who has no tendency to burn or tan anyhow, of course, has the advantage over me now for I must say she looks more like a man's ideal of womanhood than I do. But I know my time and in a few days, all will be well.

Helen may be heartbroken and suffering for her late lamented lover, but I must say that she manages to find consolation now and then and her sweet, confiding ways with my husband may get on my nerves in time.

You see, being married to a hard-boiled woman such as I am, who burns into strong language rather than tears at times of stress and strain and who does not weep in solitary confinement, Alan falls pretty hard for this heartbreak racket. And how he loves to give advice and be the big strong man to this delicate little clinging vine. And how I do see through every move. And yet I must say, that I like a good performance, even at my own expense.

If Helen starts to vamo my husband, I mean, if she continues to, I may have a problem on my hands that I didn't create. I trust she doesn't make it necessary for me to step in and protect my own—for I really like her and I don't want to be any more severe with her than I have to.

Your antique expeditions sound very interesting. If you run across any odd pewter pieces, pick them up for me.

Loads of love,

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

READ THE STORY THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

Just the Tinymites were through. They'd made their wooden man. He'll do, said Coppy.

He dropped a saw and hammer on the ground. "We've surely done all that we can to make him look just like a man. Come on, let's stand him up now," and then turned him round and round.

And so they stood him on his feet. Well, he's surely pretty real. Laughed Coppy, as he eyed the man from front, and then from back. The leaves were given him for hair, and falling off. They won't stay there. Then Scouts made them tighter just by driving in a tack.

"Oh, gee, be careful," Coppy said. "How would you like to have your head filled up with little tacks and such. It wouldn't be much fun. The Tinymites laughed and someone said. Oh, shucks, that didn't hurt his head. He hasn't any feelings. Why, he cannot walk or run."

Just then the Clowny looked around and he'd noticed a flap on the ground. "I have a little notion that I believe will work out grand." He took a run and jump and reached down in the grass. The Tinymites watched and shortly saw a bottle in his hand.

"We'll use that," somebody said. "How did you know that was inside our little tin?" I'm sure that I have never seen it before. "Now just be patient as you can. This stuff goes on the wooden man," said Clowny. "I'll pour it on and you'll see what it's for."

He pulled the little cork right out. It seemed there wasn't any doubt that Clowny knew just what to do. "Now watch me close," said he. He tipped the bottle over the man and out some funny fluid ran. When this stuff works," he shouted quite a thrill. "You'll see."

(The Wooden Man comes to life in the next story.)

Silhouette Determined By Women's Posture

BY JEAN PATOU

Paris, France—In any discussion of fashion the word silhouette is constantly recurring. One generally means by the silhouette the change of the more fact that the style of dressing has changed. There is some reason for this assumption. A gown indisputably has very great influence on a woman's outline.

Very few persons stop to think, however, that a dress style evolves with women themselves. It changes as their carriage and gestures change. To be specific I mean their methods of carrying themselves. If you will concentrate on any smart woman you see in a drawing room you will find that there is no analogy whatsoever between the way she stands today and the way she stood a generation ago. Only fifteen years ago women stood in such a way that the body rested on one leg, while the other was placed at an oblique angle, lending grace to the silhouette and setting off to advantage the draped effect of the gown.

EACH ERA HAS ITS CHARM. The modern woman, in contrast, stands like a man. Of course this does not imply that she thus loses all the prerogatives of her femininity in so doing. This is perhaps a minor anatomical observation, but it is tremendously important as far as the work of a fashion creator is concerned. Most of the gestures of the modern woman are in harmony with the way she stands. And yet fifteen years ago, because women stood differently, they had other distinct gestures. Both the new and the old school may express charm, but they are different.

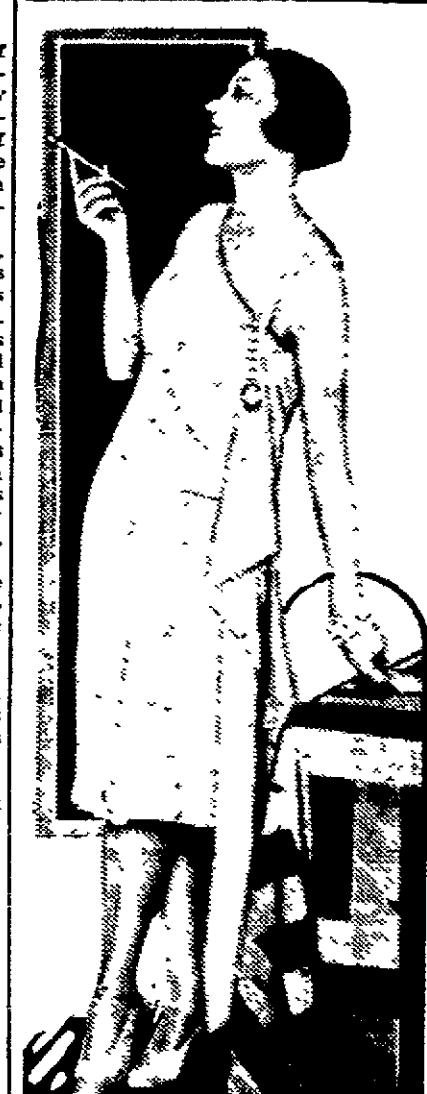

A fashion designer must take all these facts into consideration. He either studies them thoroughly or he feels them instinctively and they unconsciously inspire his creative efforts. A fashion designer must watch women as they live.

Years ago, when women rested their weight in repose on one leg, gowns swayed in their silhouettes to emphasize the posture. In post-war days the straight up and down silhouette was indicative of the military matter-of-factness in the mannerisms of women of that era.

Now, with women relaxing from the hurried, business-like days just mentioned, their poses show a spirit of leisure and repose that is reflected in the new silhouette.

FASHIONS REFLECT THE TIMES.

For after all, it is the woman who makes the silhouette, rather than the silhouette that makes the woman. Contrary to general opinion, fashions are not the arbitrary dictation of certain artists. They are an expression of the feeling of the times.

TODAY A WOMAN CAN SMOKE, WEAR A BEAUTIFUL GOWN, AND LOOK TREMENDOUSLY DISTINGUISHED.

that make them. They reflect the era that produced them.

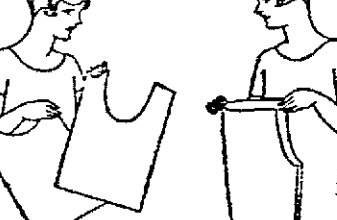

There is one habit of modern women which I do not like at all. This is the silhouette of a woman seated whose dress is too short. When I see a woman sitting like that, although I am quite a partisan of modernism, I find myself regretting the good old days when women wore dresses that covered their legs.

Another gesture of the modern woman is her habit of walking with her hands and arms clinging to her body. This was a gesture which you never saw before the era of buttonless coats. Yet this new gesture may be very charming with a woman.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST — Blueberries, cereal cream, baked eggs, toast, milk coffee.

LUNCHEON — Spinach ring filled with creamed eggs and mushrooms, tomato and banana salad, raspberry tapioca milk tea.

DINNER — Lamb loaf new peas in cream, cabbage and green pepper salad, sliced peaches quick cake, milk, coffee.

Instead of making a spinach ring try serving it in a mound with the sauce surrounding it. This is quicker and easier to do than the ring mould but is not as attractive. Cool the spinach as dry as possible and drain and chop it thoroughly before making either the ring or mound.

Quick cake is delicious and ideal for hot days.

QUICK CAKE

Three eggs, 3/4 cup sugar, 1/3 cup butter, 1 1/2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 cup milk, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla.

Beat eggs until very light using a rotary beater. Beat in sugar gradually. Soften but do not melt butter and beat into first mixture continuing to use egg beater. Beat in half the milk. Mix and sift flour, salt and baking powder and add to first mixture. Beat hard with a slotted spoon and add remaining milk and vanilla. Beat until smooth and pour in a dripping pan or a large round pan. The oven should be moderate, about 375 degrees F.

The eggs, sugar and butter must be thoroughly beaten but much time is saved since three usual procedures are combined in one. The finished cake is light, fine grained and moist. (Copyright, 1928 NEA Service, Inc.)

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Women Find Parks Best For Meeting

WOMENS church organizations of this city are about evenly divided on holding summer meetings. The Ladies Aid societies of First English Lutheran church and of St. Paul Lutheran church have dispensed with summer meetings and will resume their gatherings in September. The Womens Association of First Congregational church, also, does not meet in the summer months. No meetings of the Ladies Aid society of St. Maribew Lutheran church are scheduled for July, or August.

The Womens Mission society of Zion Lutheran church has held an outing at Erb park and will hold an outing early in August at Waverly beach, but no regular business sessions are held. At the Methodist Episcopal church, the womens societies have dispensed with meetings for July and August.

Among the organizations which have met this summer are the Womens Union of St. John church, the Womens Missionary society of Trinity English Lutheran church, the Ladies Aid society of Mr. Olive Lutheran church, the Womens Missionary society of Emanuel Evangelical church and the various organizations at Memorial Presbyterian church.

The monthly meeting of the Womens Union of St. John church at 2:30 Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Kittner, 1325 N. Clark-st., will be the annual outdoor meeting of the union. There will be no program and a picnic lunch will be served.

An out door meeting of the Ladies Aid society of Mt. Olive Lutheran church will be held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Joseph Wilharm, route 2. Members will meet at the church and at the home of Mrs. Henry Wichmann, N. State-st., at 2 o'clock and will be taken to the Wilharm home in cars.

Mrs. Reno Doerfler will be chairman of the committee in charge and members of the committee will be Mrs. R. L. Herrmann, Mrs. J. Wolfram, Mrs. Leo Hegner, Mrs. E. Peters, Mrs. George Schneider, Mrs. Max Kozelzke, Mrs. John Wilharm, Mrs. Joseph Wilharm, Mrs. Walter Oesterich, Mrs. Herman Franck and Mrs. O. A. Radloff.

New captains of chapters will be appointed at the meeting of the Womens Missionary society of Trinity Lutheran church at 2:30 Thursday afternoon at the church and captains of the chapters for the preceding year will give the report of money earned by the chapters. Mrs. Gustave Tesch will present the topic.

CARD CLUB PARTY DRAWS BIG CROWD

The card party given Tuesday night at Appleton Womens club for members of the Womens club for members of the Womens Benefit Association, their friends and girls participating in the Hollywood movie queen contest being conducted by the association, was attended by 76 persons.

Mrs. Joseph Schreiter and Mrs. C. Piette won prizes at schafkopf and bridge winners were Mrs. A. S. Eay and Mrs. George Hegner. Mrs. Emily Zwickler and Miss Jean Carnes won prizes at dice and Mrs. Charles McGregor won the prize at Michigan.

Members of the committee in charge of the party were Mrs. Rose Brown, Mrs. Amy Hoffman, Mrs. Gertrude Miller, Mrs. Doris Hauser and Mrs. Helen Kobussen.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

Miss Myrtle Trentlage and Robert Eads of the Baptist Young Peoples Union are attending the Green Lake summer camp and Miss Evelyn Stallman and Miss Eleanor Weeks will go to Green Lake on Sunday to attend the camp the remainder of its duration. Sunday will be observed at Green Lake Sunday by Baptist churches in the district and church services and Sunday school will be dispensed with to enable members to attend services at Green Lake.

A social and business meeting of the choir of Trinity English Lutheran church will be held after the rehearsal of the choir at 7:30 at the church. The meeting is a monthly event.

Arrangements have been completed for a Lutheran mass meeting Sunday, Aug. 5, at the North Eastern Wisconsin Fair grounds at W. De Pere. The mass meeting will be held under the auspices of the Luther Leagues of the joint synod of Ohio.

CLUB MEETINGS

The next meeting of the Womens Christian Temperance union will be on Saturday, Aug. 11, at the city home. The outing scheduled for Thursday afternoon at the city home has been postponed because of the death of Mrs. E. E. Dunn.

Two tables of schafkopf were in play at the outdoor meeting of the Four Leaf Clover club Tuesday afternoon at Pierce park. Each member received a prize at the meeting. Mrs. Herman Selig, E. John-st., will entertain the club next week.

PICNICS

A wiener and marshmallow roast was held at Alicia park Tuesday evening in honor of Mrs. Peter Bohler of New York City, a guest of Misses Agnes and Clothilda Theisen. Other guests at the picnic were Laura and Marie Bick, Louise Schwab, Lillian Regner, Josephine Helein, Martha and Jennie Roehler and Delda and Ruth Timmers.

Drs. Marshall and Reed have moved their offices from the McCann Bldg., 208 W. College Ave., to the Spector Bldg., at 109 S. Appleton St.

LEAGUERS TAKE PART IN TALKS ABOUT CHILDREN

About 40 members of the Senior Olive branch, Walther league, took part in a discussion of the topic "The Church and the Children," at the regular meeting of the society at the Mount Olive church parlors, Tuesday evening. The topic was discussed in four parts. What the church is; the church and its duty to its children; the importance of this duty; and the performing of that duty. The discussion was led by Arthur M. Kahler, educational director.

Following the educational program, the evening was spent in playing games and stunts were presented by members of the committee in charge of entertainment and refreshments. Lunch was served.

PARTIES

Miss Florence Keating was guest of honor at a shower Tuesday evening at Badger school, town of Grand Chute. The shower was given by voters of the district and almost 100 attended. Miss Keating is the teacher of the school and is to be married Aug. 21, to Vernon Spoel of Grand Chute. A playlet Mary's Courtship and a mock wedding were features of the program. Mrs. Schneider was the bride and Miss Marie Tillman was the bridegroom. Miss Keating acted as parson. After the program cards were played and lunch served.

Mrs. A. H. Theurer, 56 Bellaire-st., and Mrs. George Cannon, 1117 E. Hubbard-st., were hostesses to a large group at an informal afternoon party Monday at the Theurer home.

Mrs. R. M. Kanik and Mrs. R. G. Hauer entertained 36 guests at luncheon at a bridge in the Crystal room at the Conway hotel Tuesday afternoon. Bridge prizes were won by Mrs. George Tenne, Mrs. Erik Madison, Mrs. Esther Draheim, and Mrs. D. M. Gallagher.

Miss Marie Koehnke, route 4, Appleton, entertained ten guests at her home Tuesday evening at a chicken dinner in honor of Miss Belle Betzinger Menominee, Mich., and Herbert New, Appleton. Music and cards made up the evening's entertainment. The prize at cards was won by Miss Belle Betzinger.

Mrs. and Mrs. Henry J. Bosch, 1712 N. Richmond-st., entertained 30 relatives at their home Sunday evening in honor of Mrs. Gertrude Westerhoven and daughter, Mary, Los Angeles, who have been visiting at the Bosch home for the last two weeks. Cards and dice provided amusement. Prizes at schafkopf were won by Mrs. H. W. Langenberg of Kimberly, Peter G. Bosch and Louis F. Peters and at dice to Miss Laona Berg and Miss Aradice Peters.

LODGE NEWS

The Ladies Auxiliary of the United Commercial Travelers will meet at 1:30 Thursday afternoon at the Congregational church instead of the Dunn home to attend funeral services for Mrs. Dunn.

Royal Neighbors will meet at 7:45 Thursday evening at Odd Fellow hall. Regular business is scheduled.

WEDDINGS

Miss Frances Bartman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bartman, 233 N. Locust-st., and James Houghlough, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Houghlough of Kaukauna, were married at 8:30 Wednesday morning at St. Joseph church. Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Tuchscherer of Neenah were the attendants. A wedding dinner at 12 o'clock was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Bartman, N. Alvin-st., to 25 guests. Mr. and Mrs. Houghlough left Wednesday on a wedding trip to Beloit.

FIRE CREATES STIR AT MILITARY CAMP

Camp Douglas, Wis.—Fire of unknown origin which broke out early Tuesday in tent No. 5 on the street of Howitzer company, 127th infantry, caused considerable stir in the annual encampment of Wisconsin National guard at the Badger military reservation here.

Although a strong wind was blowing at the time, members of the Howitzer company and of Co. F, who were on guard in the area at the time, were able to extinguish the flames before they spread to the other tents on the street. Six men were asleep in the tent at the time but were uninjured, and most of their equipment was saved.

New features creating most comment among the guardsmen at the encampment this summer is the splendid recreation center that has been built under direction of Lieut. Col. Harry G. Killiams, camp quartermaster since last year. The former enlisted men's brick bathhouse has been converted into a new campmen and the recreation center built around it.

Tuesday afternoon saw the carrying out of the first ceremony of the encampment in which all the troops present took part in a review by its commander, Brig. Gen. George F. O'Connell of the Sixty-fourth infantry brigade.

PUT IN NEW WALKS ON LAWRENCE CAMPUS

Replacing of 250 feet of cement sidewalk on the Lawrence College campus will be completed within a week, according to the contractors. The former sidewalk was put in when the college originated and was beginning to check up considerably. Several other walks were replaced last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Schreiter returned Monday from a week's vacation at Shawano lake.

Sam Zussman, Chicago, is visiting at the home of his parents, the Rev. and Mrs. A. Zussman, 518 E. Spring-st.

SPEED BOATS GATHER AT GREEN LAKE FOR INVITATION REGATTA

Some of the Speediest Craft in Mid-west Waters Will Take Part

Green Lake (P)—Some of the fastest craft in the middle west will compete in the annual invitation regatta here Thursday, Friday and Saturday, under the auspices of the Inland Lakes Yachting association. Twenty craft, representing seven clubs already have been entered. A score of a year ago, Green Lake was the yachting center of the middle west and the speediest craft in the country raced here. At that time Alexander H. Revell of Chicago was commodore, and yachting notables from the entire country and abroad attended the races, later Sir Thomas Lipton once being a guest. At that time all of the Inland Lakes Yachting Association regattas were staged on Green Lake, but for some reason the regattas were taken to other waters. Now, after a lapse of twenty years, Green Lake, again is to be the setting for a regatta.

With Lawsonia, formerly the estate of the late Victor H. Lawson, Chicago newspaper publisher, as the background and with many socially prominent Chicago and Milwaukee people here for the event, the regatta this week promises to be as colorful as those of bygone days.

Although entered from seven different clubs, most of the craft are owned and skippered by prominent Chicago and Milwaukee people. Among the entries now listed are Lake Geneva Yacht Club—McNail brothers, O. P. Curran, Jr., J. E. Swanson, J. Herbert Taylor, Beach Warren and Kenneth Curtis, all of Chicago; Pine Lake Club—Briggs and Van Dyke (skippered by Jack Van Dyke) and Robert E. Friend, both of Milwaukee; Neenah Nodaway club of Neenah, Frank Shattuck, Jr., James H. Kimberly, and James C. Kimberley; Green Lake Club—Walter G. Smith, John H. Dunham, Jack Norcott and W. H. Colvin all of Chicago, and Phil C. Adler, of Milwaukee; Oshkosh Yacht Club—Frank Kuehl.

The judges, all men widely known in yachting circles are, Ed Rosing, Chicago; R. A. Hollister, Oshkosh; and Addin Kaye, Lake Geneva, Col. H. R. Hackett of Chicago, a familiar figure in Big Ten football circles in the role referee, is to act as timekeeper.

FERRIS HAS VARIETY OF TRADES TO FOLLOW

Candidate for Governor is a Lawyer, Chemist and an Engineer

Milwaukee (P)—Lawyer, chemist, and engineer. These are among the varied qualifications presented by John E. Ferris, who seeks nomination as Governor in the Republican primary Sept. 4, as an independent candidate.

Mr. Ferris' experience as engineer and chemist are of longer standing than as a lawyer. In fact, he will not become a bona fide attorney until sometime this week, when he is to be sworn in by the clerk of the state bar commission.

He was among the 72 successful candidates who passed the state bar examination held July 17-19, results of which were announced but a few days ago.

Mr. Ferris studied civil engineering at Cornell University, with the exception of becoming associated with G. W. G. Ferris, the famous engineer who built the Ferris Wheel for the Chicago world's fair. G. W. G. Ferris died while John E. Ferris, his cousin was attending Cornell.

John E. Ferris later graduated as a chemist from the University of Michigan, and passed a state examination in 1901 to become a registered pharmacist. Soon afterward he studied medicine at St. Louis University.

Three years ago he took up the study of law at Marquette University, graduating recently.

GO AHEAD WITH PLAN FOR NEW RIVER ROAD

A decision to make further efforts to obtain a new road on the east bank of the Wolf river between Weyauwega and New London, by way of Gills landing, was reached at a community meeting at Gills Landing Monday night.

It has been the intentions of the proponents of the road to elect a permanent committee for the work at the meeting but this was not done owing to the small attendance.

Temporary officers of the group are Alan H. Tripp, president of the Association for Relief of High Waters, Fred Peters and Harry Larsen.

MOST ROADS IN GOOD CONDITION, IS REPORT

Detours in West Part of the State Are Rough; Surveying Highway 10

Road conditions in Wisconsin are as good as they have ever been at this time of year, according to J. R. McLean, state maintenance engineer. Some regions where there has been abundant rain the roads are muddy, and in others they are dusty and choppy but the majority is in good condition. Only a few sections in many counties and is eliminating some of the dust. Many detours in the western part of the state are only in fair condition.

Engineers are busy surveying two miles of U. S. Highway 10, east of Waupaca, and the gap is to be paved this fall. This piece of road abounds in curves and sharp turns and it is to be straightened. This road is so heavily traveled that it has been almost impossible to keep it in good condition and the county has been forced to use maintenance money from other paved sections to patrol it.

O. C. Rollman, state construction engineer, said it will only be a short time until a paved road between Madison and Milwaukee will be a certainty. The paving already has been completed and the contractor is now engaged in building shoulders and ditches before the road will be opened to traffic.

OIL COMPANY'S PLANE BOOMS AIR MAIL LINE

An airplane belonging to the Wadham Oil company is scheduled to fly over Appleton Thursday enroute to Winnipeg, Canada. The trip is being made in an effort to get an air mail route established between Milwaukee and the Canadian metropolis. The only stop on the route will be at Duluth.

BECK CENTERS TALK AROUND INCOME TAX

Merrill (P)—The "notorious provision" in the 1927 tax law, "which makes it impossible for the ordinary man to compute the incomes of corporations," is what opens the way for fraud and deceit," J. D. Beck, told a Merrill audience Tuesday evening.

"It wasn't necessary to change any tax rates when such a scheme as this has been introduced into the law," he said.

"I confess," Mr. Beck admitted, "that I do not understand all the intricacies of the three-year average plan of computing incomes. Only know that under this plan nobody really knows what taxes a corporation is paying on any given year's income."

"I also know that this plan results in secrecy and makes evasion a great deal easier. It was first recommended by the Wisconsin manufacturers association, and now has no one in its favor except the tax commission and the corporations which are profiting thereby."

Mr. Beck said he knew enough about the three-year average plan to understand that "this provision of the new law is not in the interest of the people, but of the tax dodgers."

GUN CLUB HOLDS ITS 42ND ANNUAL STRAW SHOOT NEXT SUNDAY

Large Number of Marksmen Expected to Take Part in Competition

Kaukauna—Arrangements have been completed here for the forty-second annual straw and jack rabbit shoot at the Kaukauna Gun Club Sunday. The program starts at 11 o'clock Sunday morning while the range will be open for practice shooting from 10 to 11 o'clock.

Members of the committee in charge of the shoot are Joseph I. Jansen, T. N. Elsworth, L. C. Wolf, H. W. Johnson, Edward Haas, W. R. Harwood, R. H. McCarty, J. H. Dietzler, Frank J. H. Hilgenberg and Harold Engerson.

The jack rabbit shoot of 75 targets will be the first on the program. This shoot will be divided into three events with 16-yards rise. Following this event the straw shoot will be held.

All contestants can shoot in the straw event and each must furnish a prize valued at $1. Ties in the jack rabbit shoot will be determined in the straw shoot. After the shooting the prizes will be drawn by high gun succession.

If there is sufficient time there will be a double target event of 12 pairs with a suitable trophy for the prize winner.

Various merchandise prizes, donated by local businesses, will be awarded to the high guns in each of the various classes. Merchants who donated prizes are M. W. Fargo, Kaukauna Electrical Department, Hennes Auto Company, William Van Lieshout, Royal Clothing company, A. M. Lang, J. M. Scheer, A. Bayorgone, H. G. Brauer, Joseph McCarty, H. T. Runte, Butler-Dietzler Hardware company and the Bank of Kaukauna.

Special arrangements are being made by the committee to entertain the women and the members of the shooters' families.

Officers of the gun club said the shoot would be held rain or shine. Prizes also are to be given to the lady making the best score, and to the highest professional gun and to the low score local gun.

BOARD OF EDUCATION GETS BIDS FOR CHAIRS

Kaukauna—Sealed bids for the 250 chairs to be purchased by the board of education are to be in the superintendent's office at 11 o'clock Monday evening. MANUFACTURING PLANT CONSIDERS KAUKAUNA FOR ITS NEW LOCATION

Kaukauna—The proposition of the Helgerson Steel company to locate a new plant in Kaukauna has been put before the Kaukauna Advancement association and a special meeting will be held in the municipal building at 8 o'clock Friday evening, according to Ben Prugh, president of the association.

The company stated in a meeting with city officials that their reason for wanting to locate in Kaukauna is the low electrical rates here. The company also said it would employ about 150 men as soon as the plant could be put in operation.

DIES WEEK BEFORE HIS 93RD BIRTHDAY

Venerable Kaukauna Pioneer Was Active Until a Week Before His Death

Kaukauna—One of Kaukauna's oldest citizens, John Kilawee, 92, died at his home, 216 E. Second-st late Tuesday morning after an illness of a week. Mr. Kilawee would have been 93 years old next week.

He was born in Ireland Aug. 9, 1835. In 1871 he married Miss Bridget Finnegan and they came to America the same year. They landed in New York, then went to Buffalo and came to Wisconsin settling at Hollandtown and coming to Kaukauna in 1874.

Mr. Kilawee was employed by the United States government for many years and he also acted as bridge tender at the Lake-st bridge for a long time. Up to a week ago he made a daily trip from his home on the south side to the north side of the river and he usually walked the entire distance.

Survivors are his widow, four sons, John, Jr., of Thorold, Ontario, Canada, Charles, Ontario, Canada, Patrick, Park Falls, and Martin, Minocqua, three daughters, Mrs. B. A. Sarasin, Kimberly, Mrs. Edward Finnegan, Hollandtown, and Mrs. George Hatchell, Kaukauna, twenty-five grandchildren, and two great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 9:30 Thursday morning at St. Mary church and interment will be in St. Francis cemetery at Hollandtown.

ADVANCEMENT GROUP MEETS AT CHILTON

Members of Association Hear Talk by Dr. J. M. G. Darms of Mission House College

Chilton—The regular meeting of the Chilton Advancement association was held Monday evening at Hotel Chilton. About 60 members were present.

The feature of the program was an address by J. M. G. Darms, D. D. president of the Missions House College at Franklin, Sheboygan-co.

Self-assertion, self perpetuation and self-expression are three of the main springs of life, the speaker said. Education must be a drawing out of individual powers, rather than the pouring in process which it too generally is. He further said that every one has something to give to the development of the community.

Walter Kroehnke, the Rev. James Meagher, Guido L. Weber, Walter Ninow, Walter Kurtz, William J. Knauf and G. M. Morrissey gave short talks. COLD JAUNT AHEAD FOR EXPLORER TRIO GOING INTO ARCTIC

Expeditions to Antarctic Expected to Give Airplanes Severe Tests

New York—(AP)—Down to the dead land that towers above the bottom of the world three bands of explorers sail in the next few months to pit the airplane against the defenses of nature's most formidable stronghold—Antarctica.

Whether aircraft that can carry men across the oceans, across the Arctic wastes, even to the north pole, will surmount the barriers of gale and storm, ice and mountain, that have kept the south polar continent a land of mystery will soon be determined by Comm. Richard E. Byrd, Capt. Sir Hubert Wilkins, Comm. Douglas George Jeffery, Royal Navy, retired, and their respective parties. Aviators have great faith in the modern plane, but they know that this task is the hardest ever assigned to it. Antarctic weather is the worst in the world.

The Byrd expedition starts on its $500,000 venture about the middle of August. Most of the 55 men and virtually all of the elaborate equipment will travel to Dunedin, New Zealand, aboard the barkentine Samson, although the commander himself plans to leave about a month later. From New Zealand the explorers will steam across the southern ocean to the Bay of Whales, a threshold to Antarctica on the Ross Sea ice barrier, there to establish the base of operations. They hope to reach this point by January 1, summertime in the Antarctic.

The Wilkins expedition, smaller than Byrd's, plans to leave a California port in October, proceeding first to Panama, where it will board a whaler for the long voyage to the Ross Sea, where it, too, will start work. A whaling vessel will bring the little party north when its work is over.

Jeffery, a veteran of the last Shackleton expedition to Antarctica, sails south from New York in September, aboard the barkentine ship. He is chartering a ship.

Something more than a spirit of adventure, more than a desire to give the airplane another strenuous workout, is sending these pioneers into the most inhospitable region on the globe. The vast south polar continent, nearly as large as the united States and the mainland of Canada together, is the last great geographical challenge to science. Buried under a colossal ice-cap, it has given only fragmentary interviews to the geologist, meteorologist, oceanographer, paleontologist, biologist and other biographers of the planet Earth.

Now, however, science is taking to the air, and given good luck its representatives with the forthcoming expeditions should see and learn more about the Antarctic in a few days than the men of preceding days saw and learned in a year.

The persistent efforts of explorers since the time of the famous Captain Cook have gleaned such scant information about this frozen land that even today sections of its outline must be drawn by guess. Parts of the coast and the immediate hinterlands have been explored rather thoroughly and have yielded valuable data, but the narrow stretches of the far interior or seen by Amundsen, Scott and Shackleton are the only recorded glimpses of the continent's heart.

There Antarctica lies, surrounded and hemmed by ice—a huge white dome with the South Pole near its center, perched on a plateau nearly two miles high, and the remainder of its 5,000,000 square miles tapering to the Atlantic, Pacific and Indian oceans.

The ice-cap is believed to extend down the sea at nearly all points. It terminates generally in towering, unscalable ice cliffs from which break huge bergs, covering the ocean with white mountains and closely packed ice that holds ships at bay.

Parts of the coast are more accessible than others, and it is from these points that the three expeditions purpose to operate. A glance at the map shows two great indentations, or gulfs—one, Ross Sea, opposite New Zealand, the other, Weddell Sea, across from South America.

The Byrd and Wilkins parties plan to launch their aerial assaults on the interior from Ross Sea, or rather from the ice barrier that chokes more than half of that ocean arm. It was from this barrier that Amundsen and Scott started on their trips to the pole. Jeffery expects to attack from the shore of Weddell Sea, and will therefore be across the continent from the other two leaders.

The three zones of flight, as mapped in advance, will hardly overlap, if at all. Byrd plans to fly eastward over what is called by King Edward VII Land; in addition, of course, he will attempt a flight to the South Pole, which Amundsen and Scott reached after laborious sledging journeys.

Sir Hubert proposes an eastward flight along the unmarked, unseen coast between Ross Sea and Graham's Land, the western boundary of Weddell Sea. He does not contemplate a hop to the pole.

Jeffery's effort will start from a base on the west coast of Graham's Land. He plans to do his exploring eastward to Coal's Land, which lies on the other side of Weddell Sea. He may also try a trip to the pole and across the continent to Ross Sea.

BOYS AND GIRLS HELP TO HARVEST BEAN CROP

Several hundred boys and girls are engaged in harvesting beans on farms in the Appleton area. The boys work in the morning and carry their lunch with them. From 20 to 50 boys and girls work in one field and are paid 15 cents per pound with the average pick ranging between 50 to 100 pounds per day, depending on the quality of the crop and the ambition of the picker. Sometimes if the picker stays all season the farmers give a bonus for good work.

ARREST MAN HERE FOR ABANDONMENT

Walter Johnson, Neenah, employed by a construction company here, was arrested by Sergeant Matthew McGinnis and Officer Carl Radtke Tuesday afternoon on a Winnebago warrant charging abandonment. He was turned over to Neenah police.

Saturday Mr. Kohler's itinerary calls for addresses in Fort Atkinson and Jefferson in the afternoon and Beloit in the evening, and the candidate is scheduled to speak at a picnic of the North Milwaukee Civic association at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon in North Milwaukee.

STAGE AND SCREEN

CONEY ISLAND LOCAL OF MAY MAYO COMEDY

Coney Island is the playground not only of the Four Million but of the Four Hundred as well. As shown in "The Little Snob" the feature attraction starring May McAvoy at Fischer's Appleton Theatre Thursday only.

It is at Coney Island that old Colonel Banks operates his "Kentucky Derby" concession, along the boardwalk. His pretty daughter Maize helps to draw crowds and across the way is Jim, barker for a sideshow. The young folks are business rivals but devoted lovers.

Colonel Banks has been saving for years, and now insists on sending Maize to a fashionable boarding school to "make a lady of her." At school she rooms with two rich flappers and gradually becomes disillusioned with her rough-and-ready old friends and dazzled with her new ones.

She carefully avoids revealing the fact that her father is a Coney Island showman, and in due time meets a sophisticated fortune hunter, who makes her wonder that she ever should have cared for roughneck Jim.

Colonel Banks, who visits New York with her friends, and making an excuse, hurries down to visit the island. Jim is infuriated by her unish air, but urges her to stay. This she refuses to do, claiming a previous engagement.

Her friends later suggest a trip to Coney, and while there begin to ridicule her father. Suddenly the fine side of the girl's nature gains the ascendancy and she denounces them. Then, leaping to the platform, she begins the old "spiel" which used to draw the crowds. She has not lost the magic.

Afterwards to her father's home, realizing fully that he is also a hypocrite, rushes to him, only to be berated as a sham.

Jim the barker now arrives, beats up the imposter, and ends by throwing him downstairs. The "little snob" is cured.

Dad comes on the scene at the critical moment, and blandly bestows his blessing. And up from the crowded boardwalk came the roar and razzle-dazzle of the millions—The Four and the Four Hundred!

"SADIE THOMPSON" ADAPTATION OF STAGE-PLAY "RAIN"

Gloria Swanson's second independent production, "Sadie Thompson," will be the feature film at the Elite Theatre Thursday and Friday. Raoul Walsh, director of "What Price Glory," made the film, also collaborating with Miss Swanson on the scenario, and acting the role of Sergeant O'Hara. W. Somerset Maugham's classic story is the original source on which the film, "Sadie Thompson" is based.

Lionel Barrymore appears in the film as Oliver Hamilton, a self-appointed and officious reformer. Dr. Schoonover, who visits New York with her friends, and making an excuse, hurries down to visit the island. Jim is infuriated by her unish air, but urges her to stay. This she refuses to do, claiming a previous engagement.

WORLD FLIGHT GOAL OF WAR ACE AND BRIDE

Houston, Texas—(AP)—Capt. Jean Frances de Villard, French ace of the world war, and his American bride of less than a year hope to complete their honeymoon by flying around the world.

Setting out from Houston August 12 with two companions in a three-motored monoplane, they will hop to Crescent City, Calif., and then attempt a non-stop flight of 5,100 miles to Tokyo. They plan to celebrate their first wedding anniversary, August 15, in the Japanese capital as the heroes of a victorious race against perils of air and sea over a route exceeding by 1,500 miles the distance Col. Charles A. Lindbergh traveled from New York to Paris.

The winged ship, to be christened "City of Houston, Star of the West," will carry the American flag. Although the builder and skipper of this craft learned flying from Louis Bleriot, the famous French aviation pioneer, and later, while serving under the tri-color, brought down four German planes, he is a citizen of the United States. He was born in America at Fordyce, Ark., but he has spent a large part of his 34 years in France. He has been flying since the age of 18.

Captain and Mrs. de Villard will take along a co-pilot and a radio operator. Rex Smith of Los Angeles will be the co-pilot.

Spanning of the Pacific at one hop—something that has never been attempted—is the special purpose for which de Villard built his monoplane. The craft is a giant. It has a wing spread of 90 feet and weighs eight tons when loaded. The plane, which is 12½ feet high, has a cruising speed of 90 miles an hour. It has made several test flights with maximum loads and recently brought back to the United States. Mrs. de Villard says, "But I am sure Jean will make it to Tokyo by August 15, Houston on a non-stop flight."

Its gasoline capacity is 1,750 gallons. de Villard, regarding that the one Wright and two Anzani motors will use 24 gallons an hour, explains he will have 74 hours of flying. He expects to cross the Pacific in 55 hours.

From Tokyo, de Villard plans to proceed by easy stages over Asia and Europe to Paris. Then he will continue westward over the Atlantic with New York or Washington as the goal, from which he hopes to make the final jump to Houston.

"We don't know when we will come back to the United States," Mrs. de Villard says. "But I am sure Jean will make it to Tokyo by August 15, Houston on a non-stop flight."

NEW AIR MAIL POSTAGE RATE EFFECTIVE AUG. 1

With a statewide campaign to advertise the reduction in air mail rates which becomes effective Wednesday postal officials here are confident that the amount of air mail handled by the Appleton post office will increase materially.

The new rate will be 5 cents for the first ounce or fraction thereof and 10 cents for each succeeding ounce or fraction thereof instead of 10 cents per ounce or fraction thereof as formerly. P. F. Wettenberg, acting postmaster, said he hopes the amount of air mail handled here will be increased many times over by the new route.

Miss Loreta McCarthy and Lucille Daback are visiting at Milwaukee.

WALSH LEADS CHICAGO TOURNEY WITH SIX UNDER PAR CARD

Wisconsin State Champ Shoots 60-70--138 Score To Take One-Stroke Lead

Great Putting on Second Nine Keeps Appleton Man Ahead of Western Champ

Exhibiting a consistently brilliant play Tuesday in the first round of the Chicago District golf championships, Frank Walsh, professional at Butte des Morts Country club, took the lead in the meet by shooting a card of 60-70-138, six under par for the course which is 72-72-144. Walsh led Abe Espinosa of Chicago, new Western Open champ, by a single stroke and the pair were favorites in the title quest as the final 36 holes started Wednesday.

The Appleton links star came in with a 68, four under par on his first 18 holes, only to have Espinosa shoot a 65, seven under. However, Frank had a 70, two under par, on the last 36 while the best he could do was a 74, two over. Al Espinosa was the third with a 72-71-143 card.

Walsh's drives were long and straight, his approach true and his putts bordered on the uncanny. However on the 65 first round Espinosa piled up seven birdies and his putts were as good as his drives.

CHAMPION GREET'S CHAMPION

When Abe Espinosa won the western open golf championship at Chicago recently, one of the first to congratulate him on his victory was Johny Farrell, the fancy dresser who recently annexed the national open crown. Espinosa, noted out Farrell and also his brother, Al Espinosa, to win the championship. He is shown here at the right, with Farrell at the left. The trophy he received for his victory is held between them.

Heavyweight Class Falls To $10 Men As Gene Quits

BY HENRY L. FARRELL

If Gene Tunney is serious in his threat to return to the ring and Jack Dempsey cannot be coerced into retirement, the heavyweight division will fall back into the ten-dollar class where the lighter divisions fell when the title rights to their championships were being disputed.

Block is giving first-class service as a bass umpire. As a matter of fact, his work has been very above par all season. He watches all the sacks closely and never calls 'em until the play is made. Block looks and acts like an umpire on the diamond and this gains him respect all around.

Little Chute boasts of one of the best ball parks in the valley. It is a city-owned affair and has a grandstand that will seat about 1,500. The infield has been worked up in major league style and in another season, the outer gardens will be rolled down in billiard table style.

Green Bay's pitching staff went hay wire in the game against Kim-Little Chute and the league leaders chided up a 13 to 7 victory. After getting a three-run lead in the opening frame, the Bay lets this ooze away but came back to knot the count. Then the Lamers-men went wild and counted six runs.

Marty Lamers' optics are sharpening up with the mid-summer heat. In the last two games, he has been clouting the pill like he did in the days of old when he was the most feared batsman in the valley.

Against Kaukauna, the veteran got two out of four while in the Bay mix, he slammed three hits.

With but six games to go, it would seem as if Kim-Little Chute would retain the championship again this season. The league leaders have dropped two games out of fourteen played. Fond du Lac and Kaukauna were the only clubs able to take the wind out of the sails of M Lamers & Co.

Business at the gate is keeping up in the valley and the vacation time decreases in attendance hasn't been felt by the club owners. There was an overflow turn-out at the game in Little Chute on Sunday while Appleton and Kaukauna played before an unusually large crowd.

Fond du Lac will play at home on Sunday against the Kaukauna club. This should be a mound duel between Schramm and Abbott. Nee-Menasha is billed for Kim-Little Chute while Alderman Brautigan will take his Appleton Colleagues to the Green Bay Sox stadium for a Valley loop fracas.

American legion team on the top rung, two games ahead of the faltering Brandtmen. The Fords lost both games in tough struggles, dropping Monday's battle to the Evansville Peper team by one score, 6-5, and the losing Tuesday by the same count to the Valley Iron Works. Wednesday afternoon the Brandts were to play the Bankers and a third straight loss would move them a half-game below that team in third place.

Amsterdam, Holland — (AP)—Unless there's a startling turn for the better, America faces the imminent prospect of faring worse than ever in the Olympic track and field events.

While Yankee brawn and skill in the field has been piling up a commanding point lead for the team, the runners and hurdlers have suffered a smashing series of reversals.

The Americans thought they had reached the low ebb at Paris four years ago when they won only one flat race—the 200 meters—and five track events altogether, including the relays and the hurdles. They haven't been better than second in any race in the present Olympiad so far and finished that well only once outside of the women's events.

Outside of the prospects in Wednesday's finals—the 110 meter hurdles and the 200 meter dash—the chief day of evening an American shut out on the track appear to rest in the 400 meters flat where Ray Barbut, former Syracuse star, and Joe Tierney, of the New York A. C. have been going well, and in the marathon where Joe Ray leads the best team America has ever had in this feature.

These bright prospects, however, may fade as have others. The Yankees entered Wednesday's races with the new world's record-holder in the hurdles G C Weightman-Smith, of South Africa to beat and the German Her. Helmut Koernig, who equalled the Olympic record in the trials as a 200 meter obstacle for Jackson V. Scholtz, Charley Paddock and Henry Cumming.

The 400 meter runners especially face none too pleasant a prospect when the field against them includes such stars as Douglas Lowe, Briton, who beat Lloyd Eahn, Sera Maun the world's record-holder, and others in a thrilling battle in the 800 meters Tuesday.

YANKEES COME OUT OF LOSING STREAK IN AMERICAN RACE

Finally Beat Cleveland in Wild Game After Having Taken Three Defeats

Groggy and reeling from a succession of rude blows suffered since they invaded the west, the Yankees temporarily at least have checked a promising losing streak—promising, that is, to the rest of the American League.

After taking three straight on the chin at Cleveland, the champions turned on their tormentors Tuesday and beat the Indians, 12 to 9, in a wild battle. This victory profits the Yankees nothing, however, except to keep the Philadelphia Athletics riding the crest of an eight-game winning streak, five and a half games away from them in the standings.

Miller Huggins pitched did everything in their power to hand the Indians their fourth straight but Cleveland, out of pure generosity, declined the gift. Waite Hoyt and Wiley Moore both were pounded out of the box and Herb Pennock was not especially effective.

The Athletics apparently have the St. Louis Browns' number. For the fifth straight time, the Athletics beat the Browns, this time by 8 to 4. Six home runs featured the battle, two by Haas of the Mackmen.

Taking over the Boston Red Sox, 7 to 2, the Detroit Tigers registered their seventh victory in their last eight games. Vic Sorrell held Carigan's crew to four hits, one of them a home run by Charlie Ruffing.

Ted Blankenship blew up in the eighth inning when the Washington Senators scored four runs but the Chicago White Sox already had piled up a six-run lead and eventually came out on the long end of a 7 to 5 score.

The St. Louis Cardinals stretched their National League lead to five games by pounding the Phillies into submission, 18 to 5, getting 16 of their runs in four successive innings.

Jackie M. weakened in the late innings and Boston beat the Cleveland Indians, 3 to 2. Vance allowed seven hits and struck out eight.

The New York Giants and Chicago Cubs divided two at the Polo grounds. The Giants won the first, 3 to 7, by scoring five runs in the ninth inning. Charley Root set down the Giants in the ninth, 10 to 4.

Meadows and Brame were hit hard at Boston where the Braves downed the Corsairs, 11 to 5. Meadows was rocked for five runs in the first inning and Brame for four in the third.

An umpire in Fond du Lac, admitted in an interview with newspaper men that he was rotten. Now we wouldn't be surprised if 50 million Frenchmen would declare themselves in error.

"I WANT TO APOLOGIZE PUBLICLY FOR THE MISTAKES MADE," HE SAID. "HE'S JUST THE MAN THAT IS MAJOR LEAGUE MANAGERS HAVE BEEN LOOKING FOR."

Beg pardon, we meant 15 major league managers and Ed St. Louis of the Phillies, who are playing Three Eye ball this year, we understand.

This thing if carried far enough, though, will spoil the game. Pitchers actually may get to admitting that sometimes their offerings fail to cut the corner of the plate.

Why, One-Eye Connolly would pay his way to see an umpire like that work a ball game.

The only explanation we can offer for the conscientious Fond du Lac umpire is that it was Ladies' Day and his wife was in the stands.

HITS 'EM HARD

Coming to the Philles in midseason, in the deal that sent Jimmy Wilson to the St. Louis Cards, Frank Hurst has made a distinct hit with Burt Shotton, the boss, and Philly fans. Hurst connects for the circuit every now and then and at present is one of the leaders in this department in the National League. Branch Rickey, who used to own him, says this former International League star is a comer. He hit 37 doubles and 16 homers for his owners in the minors last year.

YOST TEAMS HANG UP GREAT RECORD

Football, Baseball and Track Flourish at Ann Arbor Under Yost

BY BILLY EVANS

Within the next few weeks, my good friend Fielding H. Yost will start his twenty-eighth year at the University of Michigan.

During the 27 years that Yost already has spent at the Ann Arbor institution, the Maize and Blue teams have hung up an enviable record in all branches of sport. In fact, I doubt if there is another college or university in the country that boasts as fine an all-round record of success as Michigan can because of Yost's regime.

For 25 years Yost had active charge of Michigan football destinies. During that span Wolverine eleven won 55 Western Conference games, lost but twelve and tied three. Half of the defeats were suffered at the hands of Illinois and Ohio State, the Buckeyes turning Michigan back three times in a row.

Wisconsin and Indiana never whipped a Yost-coached Wolverine team. The best the Badgers could do was that memorable 7-7 tie in 1921—out of 10 attempts in four games Indiana failed to score a point on the Yost-men. Purdue was the only conference school not to clash with a Yost aggregation.

In the 13 frays Yost's eleven participated in against Big Ten teams, the Wolverines counted 140 points to their opponents' 318, or an average of about 20 to 5.

Yost's greatest team, without question, was his first—the 1901 aggregation. That outfit ran up 550 points to nothing for the opposition. I whipped Iowa, 50 to 0. Ohio State claimed the distinction of holding the Wolverines to the lowest score—21 points.

In basketball Michigan has been very successful, too. Especially, has this been true in the last nine years, or since the Wolverines returned to the Western Conference. Out of nine championship races, Michigan has won the title six times. The 1928 team was one of the best collegiate nines developed in seasons. It lost but one conference game in 12 played, that being to Ohio State in the final tussle of the campaign.

In track the Wolverines have won 19 crowns in 22 conference classics. In other words, they have copied two more championships than all the other conference schools combined. That's quite a noteworthy record when one considers the sterling teams Harry Gill is wont to turn out at Illinois from year to year.

In baseball, Michigan has won the title once and tied for it on another occasion during the last three seasons.

Some of the outstanding celebrities of the sport world have been developed at Michigan. Yost, for instance, has brought out such all-American grid stars as Heston, Schultz, Benbrook, Maubetach, Steketee, Kipke, Vick, Friedman and Oosterbaan.

Football teams have sent out several luminaries, the greatest, of course, being George Sisler. Track has produced De Hart Hubbard, holder of the world's broad jump record, Carl Johnson, famous all-around athlete, Garrels Hester, Whitman and others.

Yes, since "Hurry-Up" Yost came to Michigan in 1901, the Ann Arbor institution has carried a name in college athletics—a mark of all-round achievement second to none.

Who's Who In Dogdom

No. 2

Study the expression of the St. Bernard. Imagine, if you can, a more impressive picture of sadness. Dog fanciers refer to them as the "Saintly" breed.

The St. Bernard is one of two breeds of dogs whose mission on earth is to save life.

The breed is named after the monks of St. Bernard. They have kept the breed at the hospice and propagated it for hundreds of years.

The holy fathers of the hospice developed the dog for use in saving the lives of Alpine chamois.

Most famous of all St. Bernards was Barry. He had a record of saving the lives of 40 men. At dusk one day, Barry was approaching a traveler who had fallen in the snow.

The traveler, mistaking the dog for a wolf, shot him to death. This happened in 1815 when the famous Barry was 15 years old. The dog's body is preserved in the museum at Bern.

During heavy storms in the Alps the monks sent out their St. Bernards. Each dog carries a small barrel around its neck. These barrels are filled with restoratives.

Years ago specimens of the breed were taken from their Alpine home and introduced to the show ring. Because of its magnificent size, docility and remarkable temper, the St. Bernard became popular on both sides of the Atlantic and was bred everywhere that dog shows were held.

The St. Bernard has served his original purpose only in the Alps. There he still goes out each winter night, plowing the deep snows and facing the blizzards, saving the lives of men.

Mother Deserts Lion Cub So Keeper Will Raise It

Madison—(P)—A pasteboard box and a bit of mosquito netting confines one of the lions at Vilas park here. No one has been hurt, as yet.

The lion is five weeks old. The young one of two, born June 24, is under the care of Fred Winkelman, zoo director, after its mother threatened to kill.

After its birth, and until three weeks ago, the cub frolicked like a kitten, when, on rare occasions, it was seen by the attendants. They did not see it until it was two weeks old.

When any of them came close to the lioness' pen, she would so misbehave the cub that the attendants were afraid she would kill it. Then the youngster lost its pep. Last Saturday it showed scarcely no strength. Sunday it was worse and Monday found it apparently dead.

The zoo attendants induced or coerced the lioness into an open-air cage closed the door to her regular indoor room and obtained the cub, which by that time was cold and stiff.

Mr. Winkelman put it out in the

CIVIL SERVICE READY TO CHOOSE ELIGIBLES

Delay in Choosing New Employees Attributed to Late Appropriation

The United States civil service commission announced today that it expects to begin certifying eligibles in August for positions of prohibition agents, investigators, and inspectors throughout the country. The delay, the commission explains, was due to the failure of congress to make an appropriation for this unusual examination task at the time when the law was passed placing the prohibition forces within the classified service.

The commission states that it is certain that there will be a shortage of eligibles in some sections of the country. For those sections, the examination will of course have to be re-announced at an early date.

Following the usual practice, those who failed in the first examination may enter the re-announced examination if they wish to do so and if they have not been barred as a result of the commission's character investigations. A "black" name limit may also prevent the re-examination of some of the original competitors.

In view of the fact that the salaries of prohibition agents, investigators and inspectors have been materially increased, it is likely that the character of the examination will be changed. It is possible that the tests will be more difficult than those given in the first examination. Such changes, as they are made, will be for the purpose of improving the selective value of the examination.

SAVE --- Your Trees

The picture on the left shows how we saved a beautiful tree for one local man. In this case, a valuable tree was saved by first treating a cavity and then filling it.

We can save your trees, too. A phone call will bring one of our specially trained representatives to your home. He will examine your trees and tell you what they need.

The City With Fine Shade Trees is the City Beautiful

Travel where one can in this country or abroad. It is soon learned that the final test of a city's beauty is its shade trees. Fine buildings and broad avenues are not enough. The best work of artist and architect must have trees to set off and enhance their splendor.

The shade tree is a gift to man's best care and protection. To observe it will repay the small cost a thousand fold.

THE KING TREE SURGEONS

are now available; they are working in your city now. They are thoroughly trained tree experts.

An Electric Light

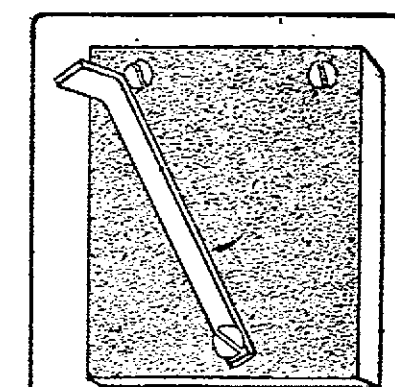

Perhaps you have built the summer house suggested before in this series, or you may have an outdoor shack, you would like to illuminate with an electric light. An accumulator or storage battery is more powerful than a dry battery for this purpose and can be recharged. You need some wire, a small bulb, a socket and reflector. Flex wire is best to use.

By NEA, Through Special Permission of the Publishers of The Book of Knowledge, Copyright, 1923-26.

This shows how your wiring should be arranged so that your light will shine when the switch is turned from one screw to another. 7-16

To make the switch, take a piece of wood, place two brass screws for the connection and one for the handle for which a strip of zinc will suffice. 7-16

Plan your wiring so that it will be most convenient, with the switch near the door by which you enter or leave. This shows how comfortable a light can make your summer house. If you use a dry battery it will not support a very powerful lamp. Storage batteries can be recharged for a small sum and give more power.

30 CANDIDATES IN RACE FOR VARIOUS POLITICAL JOBS

Seek Sheriff's Office and Five Want District Attorney's Job

With nomination papers of 30 candidates for county offices in the hands of John E. Hantschel, county clerk, the fight for places on the Democratic and Republican tickets at the primary election Sept. 4 is on in earnest.

Tuesday was the last day for filing and several of the candidates just got their nomination papers in on time. The majority of candidates filed Monday or Tuesday.

Probably the hardest fight will be that for sheriff as ten candidates have declared their intention of seeking that office. Six are seeking the Republican nomination and four the Democratic approval. They are: A. W. Jones, William Vandenberg, Frederick W. Giese, P. G. Schwartz, Fred Wankley, Appleton, and Edward G. Grebe, Kaukauna, Republican candidates; and Edward E. Lutz, L. J. LaRoe and Bernard Hoffman, Appleton, Martin Verhagen, Kimberly, Democratic candidates.

The race for district attorney probably will be next hardest in the group. All candidates are from Appleton. F. F. Wheeler, Stanley Staid, and E. C. Smith seek the Republican nomination and Raymond P. Dohr and F. J. Rooney want the Democratic nomination.

The only office that has gone begging this year is that of county surveyor. L. M. Schindler, incumbent, was appointed city engineer during his term of office has not filed nomination papers for reelection and there are no other candidates.

Only two candidates will be without opposition in the primary. They are John E. Hantschel, county clerk, and Oscar J. Schmieg, assemblyman from the First Outagamie district. Both are seeking reelection on the Republican ticket.

Two Republicans and one Democrat are in the field for assemblyman from the Second district. They are R. J. Doerschi, Rosalia, Republican; John Little Chute, seeking the Republican nomination, and John M. Rohan, Kaukauna, Democrat.

Three men are seeking the office of clerk of courts. They are Sydney M. Shannon, incumbent, and Charles Schrimpf, Republicans, and A. F. Creviere, Kaukauna, Democrat.

Miss Margaret A. Sammons, treasurer, is a candidate for reelection on the Republican ticket and she will be opposed by Henry Tillman who also is seeking the Republican nomination. Miss Delia F. Scmit is a Democratic candidate for the treasurer's job.

A. G. Koch, incumbent, and Theodore Glaser, are candidates for register of deeds on the Republican ticket. Dr. H. E. Ellsworth is a candidate for reelection to the office of coroner on the Republican ticket and Dr. W. C. Felton is seeking the office on the Democratic slate.

SPECIAL PROGRAM FOR SCOUT CAMP VISITORS

Special plans are being arranged by the Appleton Scout Council for a program for boys between the ages of 10 and 12 years who will visit the camp next week, according to M. G. Clark, valley scout executive. Instructions in nature study will be given and they will be taught to swim by George E. Hantschel, district director. Reservations for camp should be made before Saturday, according to M. Clark, and boys between the ages of 10 and 12 from Appleton, Neenah, Menasha, other cities in the valley county are eligible to attend. The group will assemble at the scout offices on Wed. College-ave. at 8:30 Monday morning and be transported to camp by truck.

PUBLIC WORKS BOARD IN BUSINESS MEETING

A meeting of the board of public works will be held at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning throughout the middle west. The Standard Oil company of Indiana was the first to announce the raise and other refineries are expected to follow. The advance will result in a tank wagon price of 15 cents and a service station price of 17 cents a gallon for gasoline sold here. Kerosene will be 12 cents a gallon in tank wagons.

The increases were made necessary because of increased cost of crude oil and decreases in revenue from industrial fuel oil, according to dealers. The price of gasoline was unchanged for several months.

BUILDING PERMITS

Building permits were issued Wednesday by John Weiland, building inspector, to Edward Mollen, frame residence at 325 E. Randall, cost $2,500; George J. Bartman, garage at 1514 N. Alvin, cost $150; and to Mrs. Joseph Schiffer, garage at 511 E. Pacific, cost $150.

RETURN FROM VACATION

District Attorney and Mrs. John A. Lonsdorf and family returned Tuesday from Hasbrouk lake near Tona-haw where they spent the past two weeks. During Mr. Lonsdorf's absence Assistant District Attorney Stanley Staid had charge of the district attorney's office.

WISCONSIN WEATHER

Unsettled weather tonight and Thursday; probably local thunderstorms; somewhat warmer in north-west portion tonight.

GENERAL WEATHER Unsettled weather with scattered thunderstorms have prevailed over Al-berta, Montana, the Dakotas, upper Michigan and Missouri during the past 24 hours. Elsewhere the weather is mostly fair. Temperatures have changed but little over the country as a whole, although it is quite cool this morning over the Lake Superior region and the western Canadian provinces. Mostly cloudy weather, with probably thunderstorms by Thursday afternoon, may be expected in this vicinity during tonight and Thursday. Temperature changes will not be important. Winds will be moderate, shifting.

Sheboygan Peddler Loses $1350 To Jewel Swindler

Sheboygan—(P)—Sharp ears and a sharper eye for business cost Sam Fiebleman, Sheboygan rag peddler, $1350 in cash Tuesday.

Mr. Fiebleman went to services at the Sheboygan Jewish synagogue Tuesday morning, and while leaving the house of worship, overheard two men talking.

"What will you give me for this gold piece?" the taller man, a gentleman of Russian appearance, asked.

The smaller man. The gold piece was a United States double eagle.

"A dollar," was the rejoinder and the transaction was made.

Mr. Fiebleman was astounded, perturbed, then eagerly conscious it was something for almost nothing, and he broached the query "if there were more bargains."

There were.

One gentleman or the other, Fiebleman has forgotten which, confidentially told him that he had 20 diamonds, the rarest in Russia, that he had stolen, and that he could buy them cheap.

Mr. Fiebleman was all ears, but was cautious and took the diamonds and the gentlemen to a jeweler. The jeweler inspected one of the gems and conservatively estimated that it was worth $67.50.

The peddler was satisfied. He negotiated, the men bargained a price was set for the 20—$1350.

Fiebleman offered a check, cash was asked. It was obtained, the transaction was made and Mr. Fiebleman rushed home.

Following the diamonds, his treasure, Fiebleman saw the glitter went away. Whether it was the glitter of new possessions disappearing or a suspicion of doubt has not been explained, but the peddler went to police headquarters and was directed to a jeweler.

"Pop bottle glass" was the verdict. Fiebleman had been switched. Police are searching for the men.

DEATHS

MRS. ELMER DUNN Funeral services for Mrs. Elmer Dunn, who died Sunday, will be from First Congregational church at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon instead of at the Dunn residence as has been previously announced. The body will be taken to the church at 11 o'clock and will lie in state until the funeral services. Dr. Theodore Faville and the Rev. F. J. Nienstedt will conduct the service and interment will be in Riverside cemetery. Organizations of which Mrs. Dunn was a member will attend the services in a body.

MRS. ARTHUR KROCK Medina—Mrs. Arthur Krock, a resident of this vicinity for many years, died in Appleton Tuesday night after a year's illness. Surviving are the widow, a son, Donald, and a daughter, Elaine.

JAMES M'ILHONE Funeral services for James M'Ilhone, who died Tuesday noon from injuries received when he fell from a tree will be held at 8 o'clock Thursday morning at the residence, 1632 W. Elsie-st. The body will be taken to the St. Mary church for final rites. Burial will be in St. Mary cemetery.

WILL OPEN BIDS FOR NEW FREEDOM SCHOOL

Town to Replace Structure Destroyed by Fire Last April

Bids are to be opened Thursday by the school board in the town of Freedom for a new town high school according to A. G. Meading, county superintendent of schools. The new structure will replace the high school building which burned to the ground last April with a loss that exceeded $25,000.

The new building, which is not to cost in excess of $30,000, will be of brick-structure, two stories high. It will contain a large combination gymnasium and auditorium which also will be used as a town hall as the school is town property.

On the second floor will be a large study hall, two classrooms and recitation rooms. Lavatories and the heating plant will be located in the basement. It is hoped the new school will be ready for use before cold weather sets in next fall.

LOCAL CHIROPRACTORS CHANGE THEIR OFFICES

Chiropractors, Dr. Larsen and R. W. Paase, have moved their offices above the Kinsley building at 214 W. College-ave. and were ready for business Wednesday although they will not be settled in their new establishment for several days. Dr. Larsen's former office was at 335 W. College-ave while Dr. Paase formerly was above Voigt's drug store.

Wenzel Brothers plumbers now located at 406 W. College-ave. will occupy the former Larsen quarters about Aug. 10.

JOHNSON LOCATED IN NEW QUARTERS

Formal opening of the Johnson Shoe Rebuilders new shoe shine parlor at 128 E. College-ave. will be Saturday, Aug. 5, according to the proprietor. The building, formerly occupied by the Bartman Shoe store, has been remodeled.

OBSERVE PORTIUNCULA FEAST AT CHURCH HERE

The Feast of Portiuncula is being observed by members of St. Joseph congregation from noon Aug. 1 to midnight Aug. 2. Services will be held every hour Thursday morning from 5:35 until solemn high mass at 9 o'clock, and a special devotional service will be held at 7:30 in the evening.

The Feast of Portiuncula, a holy day observed only in Franciscan churches, is celebrated in honor of the special indulgence St. Francis received in the little church at Assisi in 1211. The term portiuncula means "little church."

CRUG AND MOYLE GO TO ROTARY MEETING

E. H. Krug, president of the Appleton Rotary club, and F. G. Moyle, secretary, left Wednesday for Ashland, where they will attend an executive conference of Rotary district No. 10. D. H. Brownell, president of Northland college, Ashland, is district governor of the organization.

SPEECHES AND GAMES ENTERTAIN JOBBERS, GROCERS AT PICNIC

Closer Cooperation Between Farmer and Grocer Stressed by Schneider

Speeches, baseball games, races, band concerts, dancing and other events constituted the program for the annual outing of retail grocers and wholesale jobbers of Appleton, Neenah, Oshkosh, Kimberly, Little Chute, Menasha, and Kaukauna, at Silver Lake, Wis. Tuesday.

About 225 men attended the outing. A closer cooperation between the farmer and grocer was stressed by Congressman George Schneider in his talk to the group in the afternoon. A short talk was given by Arthur N. Jones and several men discussed the cooperation which existed during the past year between the valley grocers and farmers.

The retailers defeated the wholesalers in a baseball game by a score of 12 to 5 and the retailers of Appleton beat the Oshkosh team by a score of 14 to 5. The Oshkosh team of war time defeated Neenah-Menasha in a close match.

The 125 Field Artillery band played concerts at cities enroute and played continuously throughout the afternoon and evening. The group was conducted through the state fish hatchery at Wild Rose. Two hours were spent at Waupaca on the return trip and the band played a concert at the Wisconsin Veterans Home. A pavement dance was held on the main street of Waupaca.
